U. S. Disturbed
By French Edict

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has told French President de Gaulle that the U.S. response, made Monday night a few hours after a letter from De Gaulle reached the White House, implied that the United States would remove its NATO-support military installations from France rather than hand them over to French command and control as De Gaulle reportedly wishes.

Boys at
New High

Exams Scheduled

Approximately 60 boys will be accepted for the freshman class of September, 1966 at John A. Coleman Catholic High School. Temporary quarters for the school year 1966-1967 will be at the Academy of St. Ursula which, beginning in September, will be known as the John A. Coleman Catholic High School and where the freshman class will be co-educational. Every assurance is given that the new building will be ready for occupancy in September, 1967.

New Site on 209
Site of the new school is on Route 209 near the Wiltwyck Country Club in the Hurley section. Architects for the first co-educational Catholic high school in Ulster County are Paver and Wildfoerster of Middletown. An entrance examination will be administered at the Academy of St. Ursula Saturday, March 19 at 10 a. m. Application forms are available from the pastors and principals of the parish schools. Applications must be submitted by March 16.
Deadline March 16
Students who took the Diocesan Cooperative Examination need not take the examination. Any boy or girl interested in attending Coleman must submit an application. The deadline for these applications is March 16. Tuition for the freshman class will be at the ordinary diocesan rate.

Leary Plays Down Marijuana,
Laredo Jury Selected Monday

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — A former Harvard University professor being tried on a charge of possessing marijuana illegally, said the drug "is a relatively harmless plant far, far more harmless than alcohol."
Dr. Timothy Leary, 45, of Millbrook, N.Y., where he is director of the Castilia Foundation, added in a statement Monday: "The government has no right to interfere with a person's exercise of scientific or religious beliefs unless the religious practice or pursuit of knowledge presents a clear and present danger of a tangible evil or unless there is a compelling state interest that cannot be protected by any other means."
"We will submit that the possession and transportation of marijuana by a person who intends it for religious or scientific use cannot conceivably be found to present such a clear and present danger."
A jury of eight men and four women was selected Monday in U.S. District Court to hear the case against Leary and his daughter, Susan, 18.
Customs officers said they found three ounces of marijuana on Miss Leary's person when two were stopped in this border city on a trip back from Mexico late last year.
Leary said the Castilia Foundation conducts experiments to test the effect of drugs on the human mind.
He said that as an American citizen "I am entitled to the free exercise of my religion" and to engage in scientific research.
"Psychic plants and chemicals such as marijuana are not used as ends in themselves but as keys for opening up rich experiences that lie within us but which have long been untapped," he said.

Criminal Element Also Joins Exodus to Suburbia U.S.A.

Increase in Crime Blamed on Soaring Populations,
Small Police Forces, Public Apathy: Survey by AP

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer
Police officials say suburbia's soaring population, public apathy and small police forces contribute to the pace-setting crime rise in the suburbs, an Associated Press survey shows. Millions of Americans have escaped to the suburbs. But criminals apparently have joined in the exodus from the cities.
The FBI said Monday the suburbs paced a 5 per cent increase in the nation's reported crimes in 1965. Crime in suburbia was up by 8 per cent over 1964, with 12 per cent more rape and 15 per cent more robbery.
"Certainly our crime rate is growing, but then so is our population. They follow together," says Donal Meehan, police chief of Alhambra, Calif., a suburb of Los Angeles.
"We're getting some of the crime that used to be elsewhere," said Police Chief John O. Kenyon of Overland Park, Kan., which is 12 miles from downtown Kansas City and one of the 10 fastest-growing communities in the nation.
In Yonkers, just outside New York City, Safety Commissioner Daniel F. McMahon says: "We're part of the national picture — lowering of moral standards and a growing disrespect for law and authority, and we haven't been helped by court decisions."
One of the major problems facing suburban communities is that their police forces have not kept up with the population.
"We're just not able to get the personnel, and we haven't had

Major Reversal of Policy
Rocky Switches, Will Ask Minimum Increase

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller, in a major reversal of policy, will ask the Legislature this week to raise the minimum wage in New York State to at least $1.40 an hour and possibly $1.50.
Sources close to Rockefeller reported the governor had decided to abandon his position that the state's minimum wage should not be increased until the federal minimum also is raised.
Vetoed Two Proposals
The Republican governor had vetoed two Democratic bills proposing to increase the state minimum from $1.25 to $1.50 an hour. He had contended that, without comparable federal action, industry would be tempted to move from New York into lower-wage states.
Rockefeller's decision came as the Democratic-controlled Assembly prepared to force passage today of another $1.50 wage bill. Republicans controlling the Senate agreed to hold the bill in committee until the governor makes his intentions known.
Meanwhile, in other developments: — The sponsor of the controversial divorce law reform measure called a news conference today to announce changes in the provisions that would permit divorce after a husband and wife had lived apart for two years. He said the revision would make the measure "more palatable."
Won't Press for Action
The chairman of the Assembly's Health Committee indicated he would not press for action this year on a more liberal legal abortion law but would seek establishment of a Senate-Assembly committee to study the issue in detail.
Rockefeller's reversal of policy on the minimum-wage issue appeared to be a concession to organized labor, which has pressed vigorously for an increase in the present minimum.
Last year, Rockefeller called for passage of a bill that would raise the minimum to $1.50 — but on the condition the increase would not take effect until 1967.

Rosendale Eyes
Town Park, Talk
Scheduled Sunday

Preliminary plans for a park in the Town of Rosendale will be discussed at a meeting Sunday, March 13, at 8 p. m. in the town clerk's office.
Participating in the planning session will be members of the recreation committee, planning board and a representative of Tongore Park.
At the recent town board meeting it was reported that money has been set aside by the New York State Conservation Department to help villages and towns in setting up recreation areas.
At the present time the recreation committee headed by Ernest Hopper of Tilton is considering possible sites. It is hoped that the proposed town park would include swimming and recreation areas.
Named to Planning Board
Joseph Salvatore was appointed to the recreation planning committee by the board. Also present at the meeting were Hopper and Richard Priest of the recreation committee.
At the board meeting Supervisor Gerard DeFelice stressed that no secret meetings of the board are held and that no action is taken if the full board is not in attendance. He noted that the town clerk's office is used for many meetings which are open to the public.
Complaints were registered against the constable in charge as to the manner of handling arrests. The board decided to meet with the constables in executive session in the near future to discuss the matter.
Set Junk Hearing
A public hearing on the town junk yard ordinance will be held March 28 at 8 p. m. in the town clerk's office on amendment.

Body of Ellenville
Man Found in Creek

The body of an elderly Ellenville man, missing since Sunday night, was found about 11 a. m. today in Sandburg Creek near the Ellenville community swimming pool.
George Zeiss, 85, of 14 Church Street, Ellenville, was last seen on Warren Street in the village. He had told his wife he was going to his doctor, Dr. David W. Wainapel, at Main and Warren Streets. When he failed to return, his wife notified a neighbor, who in turn summoned police.
A search was organized by the Ellenville community swimming pool.

Idle Dips
To Lowest
Since '53
Jobless Rate Put
At 3.7 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate fell last month to 3.7 per cent, the first time in nearly nine years it has been under four per cent, the Labor Department said today.
Drop of 100,000
The sharp drop from 4 per cent in January to 3.7 per cent in February brought the jobless rate down to the lowest point since November 1953, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.
The total number of unemployed dropped more than 100,000 to 3,150,000.
At the same time, total employment rose 300,000 to 71.6 million.
Compared with a year ago, total employment was up 2.1 million and total unemployment was down more than one million.
Work Week Gains
The factory work week edged up slightly on a seasonally adjusted basis, to 41.3 hours, the highest level since the industrial boom days of World War II and average weekly earnings went up 27 cents to $110.27. Average hourly earnings remained at an all-time high of $2.67, the same as in January.
Of the total unemployed, 1.5 million were adult men, 95,000 adult women and 700,000 teenagers.

Senate Confirms
Glasser, Bush
For Harness Jobs

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Senate today confirmed Gov. Rockefeller's appointments of two members of the Harness Racing Commission, including Chairman Robert A. Glasser of Buffalo.
Glasser had resigned from his present term, which would have ended Feb. 1, 1970. Rockefeller reappointed him to a term that will end Feb. 1, 1972.
Former State Sen. E. Ogden Bush of Delancey, a Republican, who was appointed to the commission last summer, was reappointed to fill the remainder of Glasser's term.
The chairman is paid $27,000 a year. Bush's salary is $19,795.

ASSIGNED COUNSEL COMMITTEE — Ulster County Bar Association recently named three of its members to administer the newly adopted Assigned Counsel Plan for representation of indigent defendants in criminal cases. They are (l-r) Robert L. Carrington of Saugerties; Abram F. Molyneux of Woodstock, who is county attorney, and former City Judge Joseph D. Saccomani of Kingston, who was named administrator. The new plan conforms with a recently passed state law amending county law requiring an organized plan for providing an attorney for a criminal defendant who has no financial means of securing the services of a lawyer. Also on the committee is Robert Harp of New Paltz. (Freeman photo by Wagenfahr).

Jolt Centers in Honan,
Peking Also Is Shaken

MOSCOW (AP) — The Central Moscow Seismograph Station recorded a major earthquake early today in the populous eastern region of Communist China, Tass reported.
Recorded Elsewhere
The quake also was recorded in Japan and at the University of California in Berkeley.
Tass said the tremor at 12:38 a. m. Moscow time was centered in the area of Kaifeng, a large city in eastern China's Honan Province about 350 miles south of Peking.
It registered 10 on the 12-point scale used in the Soviet Union, Tass said. This equals about 8.3 on the 10-point scale used in the United States. The quake which hit Alaska on Good Friday 1964 registered 8.6 on that scale.
No Peking Casualties
Japanese news correspondents in Peking said a strong earthquake shook the Chinese capital this morning, causing walls to crack and toppling furniture. They said there were no reports of casualties.

Lose Four Planes, Three Crews

Red Targets Reel Under Record Air Onslaughts

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The American air war against North Viet Nam climbed to record intensity in the past 24 hours but also cost four U. S. jets and the crews of three of them. Pilots reported they knocked out a fuel dump and a missile site.
Pace-Setting Performance
Air Force and Navy pilots flew several hundred sorties against targets in the Communist North, a pace-setting performance since the raids began 13 months ago, an American spokesman said. The total number of planes was not disclosed, but there were 53 missions, the spokesman said.
Direct hits on the Son La oil storage center 130 miles east of Hanoi rocked the area with explosions and sent up black clouds 4,000 feet, the spokesman said.
The U. S. pilots blasted their second missile site in four days, hitting one 22 miles west of Thanh Hoa and 80 miles south Hanoi, he said.
With the skies clear, the Americans also attacked roads, railroad tracks, ferries and bridges on a wide front ranging from the 17th Parallel frontier to the coastal city of Vinh.
A highway bridge was claimed destroyed 20 miles north of the border.
Pilot Presumed Lost
One F105 Thunderchief jet was hit by ground fire 52 miles southeast of Vinh. The pilot bailed out and was rescued unharmed by a helicopter crew.
Another Air Force Thunderchief was shot down while attacking a suspected missile site. The aircraft disappeared during its first pass at the target, boiling down through heavy flak. A spokesman said it may have been hit by a missile. The pilot was presumed lost.
Two Air Force F101 reconnaissance planes also disappeared Monday on a mission northwest of Vinh. The fate of the planes was unknown and the pilots were listed as missing in action.
Air Force B52's struck again today in Binh Duong Province, 35 miles northeast of Saigon. The target was a Viet Cong military headquarters; a spokesman said three enemy regiments had been seen operating in the sector since Jan. 1. There was no estimate of damage inflicted by the big bombers.
Little Ground Action
On the ground, most of the big American, Allied and Vietnamese government operations clanked slowly to a halt with the Viet Cong in hiding.
The U. S. Marines scoured through the sector seven miles north of Quang Ngai where they and the Vietnamese smashed the North Vietnamese 21st Regiment in Operation Utah during the past four days.
They found 48 more enemy bodies around the command post they overran and blew up, bringing the confirmed total for (Continued on Page 10, Col. 1)

East Asian
Unit Head
Testifies

Calls for Major
Change in Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Asian expert predicted today that if Red China concluded there was a major threat to the North Vietnamese regime a large-scale direct Chinese intervention in the Viet Nam war might result.
The prediction came from A. Doak Barnett, acting director of Columbia University's East Asian Institute, in testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.
Urges Wide Efforts
He urged that drastic changes be made in U.S. policy along with wide efforts to reach an accommodation with Red China.
Barnett said the United States should acknowledge the Communist regime as the Chinese government on the mainland, seek the seating of two Chinas in the United Nations and encourage trade relations with the Red Chinese.
He was the first witness in a series of public hearings called by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., to alert Americans to possible Red Chinese intervention in Viet Nam.
Supporting Fulbright's stand, Barnett told the committee that "it would be dangerous error to conclude that Communist China would not risk major war if it genuinely felt that its vital interests were threatened."
Hopes Avoidance
He said there is considerable evidence, particularly in Viet Nam, that "while Peking hopes to avoid any major conflict with the United States, it fears that American escalation will create situations demanding escalation on the Chinese side, which could lead to major conflict."
"No one can say with certainty what actions might provoke an increased Chinese response," he said.
"There is no guarantee, however, that even less drastic forms of American escalation— (Continued on Page 8, Col. 3)

College Receives
Equipment for Electronic Study

Prof. Walter Hopkins, Chairman of the Engineering and Industrial Technology Division at Ulster County Community College, today announced the college had received a contribution of high quality electronic equipment valued at $2220. The equipment consists of oscilloscopes, plug-ins, generators, probes and related accessories.
Poughkeepsie Firm Donor
Hopkins reported the contribution had been made by Tektronix, Inc., which maintains offices in Poughkeepsie. Robert Beville, field engineer for Tektronix, after discussing the new electronics program to be introduced at the local college next September, made a recommendation to his company that a contribution would be justified. Hopkins expressed his great pleasure in receiving the equipment, and indicated that it would make a significant contribution towards supporting the new electronics program.
Tektronix, Inc., has established the Tektronix Foundation which (Continued on Page 10, Col. 3)

Lauds Red Cross For Services to Viet Nam Troops

G. Alan Johnson, chairman of the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross has received information that among his many splendid testimonials received concerning Red Cross services in South Viet Nam is the following statement from Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U. S. troops in Viet Nam:

"On the eve of the 1966 American Red Cross appeal for funds and volunteers, I take this opportunity to advise the American people of the outstanding support being rendered U. S. Forces in Viet Nam by this worthy and humanitarian organization."

Work Load Increases

"With the buildup of U. S. troops in the last several months, the requirements placed on the Red Cross have increased manifold. The Red Cross has met the challenge of this increased commitment and geared itself to support almost 200,000

U. S. troops with service involving contact with families in emergency situations, financial aid, counseling, medical assistance, and many other humanitarian measures characteristic of this great organization.

"Americans here are grateful to the Red Cross and all who support it for this continued effort which does so much to enhance the morale and well-being of U. S. servicemen. The Red Cross depends upon the American people to provide the financial support and volunteer assistance to make their stay here possible. This support has been unfailing and I am confident that during this year of trial and conflict in Viet Nam, it will fully meet requirements."

Seek Workers, Funds

Johnson pointed out that the Red Cross activity in Viet Nam is just one reason why the success of the 1966 campaign for members and funds is so important. Without sufficient funds, Red Cross will be unable to give its usual service not only to the servicemen and their families but also to victims of disasters such as Hurricane Betsy.

Under the chairmanship of John O'Leary of West Hurley, the Ulster County Red Cross Chapter is currently conducting its annual campaign for members and funds in the sections of Ulster County outside the Community Chest Area. It is essential that this campaign meet and exceed its goal of approximately $8,000 in order to continue to meet the needs of Ulster County. Contributions sent to the Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, 308 Clinton Avenue, will be credited to the quotas to be attained in the individual towns.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Profits were never higher but the stock market is eyeing gloomy predictions that the earnings climb is tiring. Some even fear the trend may be reversed. The figures themselves, however, scarcely bear this out. They get bigger all the time.

Labeled Past History

The market shrugs these off as past history and tries to guess the future. What is feared is that profits will be cramped by several developments.

These include rising production costs as wage scales mount and payroll outlays are hiked by higher Social Security taxes; tight money proving both expensive and restrictive for business expansion plans and current activities; high break-in costs for new plants coming into operation or, on the other hand, unprofitable operation of aging plants as stepped-up production schedules push against the limits of capacity; and labor shortages that spell more overtime, less production, or the hiring of less efficient help.

All seem likely to happen. And in the realm of probability are higher tax payments this year through a speedup in collections, and maybe higher tax rates before the year is out.

Predictions that the climb in profits is petering out are based on an interpretation of the latest figures, rather than on the figures themselves.

Actual results show that in the final three months of 1965 manufacturers' net income after taxes advanced 19 per cent over their profits for the preceding quarter. The fourth quarter net earnings also were 16 per cent above the fourth quarter of 1964. This year-to-year gain was about the same as set up in each of the first three quarters of 1965.

With some companies advancing as much as 40 per cent in profits last year, what is the reasoning behind the predictions of a slowdown?

Point to Season Trends

In addition to the forces outlined earlier, the statistics at the First National City Bank, New York, point to the season trends. They say the 19 per cent advance in the fourth quarter of 1965 from the July-September period was only slightly more than seasonal. That is, profits are usually highest in the final months, while the summer often sees a lag.

This only slightly more than seasonal advance at the end of year is contrasted to a considerably more than usual advance in the April-June quarter and a much better than usual summer performance.

The moral the statisticians draw is that in the spring and summer profits were really swinging. But at year's end either the boom was tiring, or costs were mounting, or both.

Industry is still producing at near record levels in this first quarter of 1966. But what the stock market is wondering is: How much of the feverish activity is being turned into after-tax profits?

Court-Named Group Exams Reapportion Plan

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A court-appointed commission on reapportionment examined today areas in which Republican and Democratic leaders say they reached agreement.

Legislative leaders met Monday with commission aides to inform the group of efforts toward a GOP-Democratic compromise in drawing new district lines for the November election.

Attempts to reach a compromise between rival plans collapsed two weeks ago, and the Court of Appeals subsequently appointed a five-man commission to draw up a plan to redistrict the Legislature.

The commission was instructed to report by March 14. In the course of compromise talks, GOP and Democratic leaders reached agreement on some districts, but Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia said there were too many areas in which compromise was impossible.

Educational Site Is Considered by Eastman Kodak

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A campus-type educational center, to eventually include five or six buildings and a staff of 150, is planned by Eastman Kodak Co. for a site in suburban Henrietta.

The company announced Monday it was negotiating for purchase of a 390-acre property near the Genesee River and planned to construct a Kodak Marketing Education Center.

The project cost was not estimated. Gerald B. Zornow, vice president for marketing, said the center, first units of which are expected to be in use by the end of 1967, would be developed gradually to combine various existing company educational programs at one location.

Property on the west side of East River Road, at Lehigh Station Road, is under consideration, he said. The campus of the University of Rochester and proposed campus sites for Rochester Institute of Technology and Monroe Community College are nearby.

Approve Kendall, Witco Merger

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP) — Shareholders of Kendall Refining Co. approved Monday a proposed merger with Witco Chemical Co. of New York.

Kewanee Oil Co. of Bryn Mawr, Pa., had made an offer to buy control of Kendall, a Bradford manufacturer of lubricants and other products.

Kendall President J. B. Fisher said 277,752 shares, equal to 70.25 per cent of all outstanding shares, voted in favor of the proposed merger with Witco.

He said 367,814 shares, representing 93 per cent of all outstanding shares, voted in today's special session.

Witco shareholders are scheduled to vote on the merger March 18 in New York.

Details on the basis of the merger were not immediately available.

Kendall, third largest producer of Pennsylvania grade crude oil, recently attempted to merge with Pennzoil Co., another large producer of Pennsylvania grade crude, but dropped the plans after the government had won a temporary restraining order.

The government had contended the merger would reduce

Assembly Passes 2 Wilson Civil Service Measures

The State Assembly has taken favorable action on two pieces of legislation introduced this year by Ulster County Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson which deal with the problems of civil service examinations and group medical insurance for Civil Service employees.

Assemblyman Wilson said that he was highly gratified by the passage of his bills, and felt that the measures will be of great assistance to civil service employees throughout New York State.

Forwarded to Senate

The two bills will now go to the State Senate for a vote, and if approved will be forwarded to the Governor for his signature.

The first of Assemblyman Wilson's bills calls for the establishment of a single eligibility list for civil service positions following the taking of an examination. Wilson said that the present practice is to create two lists, one for college graduates, and another for non-graduates, regardless of how well any individual scored on the exam.

The Ulster County Assemblyman contended that such a practice is discriminatory in nature, and that a single list should be established, based solely on the grade a person received on an exam. Wilson added, however, this bill would not affect any position where a college education is a requirement for employment.

Medical Insurance

The second bill would allow smaller civil service organizations throughout the state to avail themselves of group medical insurance. Assemblyman Wilson said that the present law limits such medical insurance to civil service groups which have a membership of over 5,000, and his legislation would allow smaller groups having a membership of at least 500 to take advantage of a medical insurance policy for their members. Assemblyman Wilson said that the bill would apply to any state, county or other municipal civil service organization, as well as teacher's groups.

If the first part of your vehicle identification number is here, you might be a winner.

Here's how it works. Look at the first symbols (the prefix) on your vehicle identification slip. Then look at the symbols listed above. If you find yours on the list, you've taken the first step toward being a winner. Now go see your Buick dealer. He has a list of 72 winners posted in his showroom. If you see your entire vehicle identification number on the poster—the symbols plus the rest of the numbers—$2332 cash is yours. (If your prefix isn't listed in this ad, don't give up. Your numbers may have been posted during the past few weeks. And every week there are 72 new winners posted on the showroom wall. So watch for next week's list of new symbols in this newspaper.) No slogan to invent, no puzzles to solve. In fact, you don't even have to own a Buick to have a winning number. While you're in the showroom, get a good look at the Buick Special. The $2332.00 happens to be its price. *Manufacturer's suggested retail price for Special V-6, 2 dr. coupe. Price includes federal excise tax and suggested dealer delivery and handling charge.

Contest Rules. Residents of Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska may, if they prefer, send in a postcard to R. L. Polk and Co., P.O. Box 1347, Detroit, Michigan 48231 and receive the weekly list of winning numbers by mail for comparison with their own vehicle identification number. An official entry form will be included. Sweepstakes limited to persons over 21 living in the continental U.S. Not valid in Florida or states where prohibited by law.

Some banks say size of their building or the number of people employed; others say total assets or the number of depositors.

RED CROSS DRIVE

Ulster County Chapter of American Red Cross has launched its month-long financial campaign for $7,415 in local areas outside the Community Chest district.

The funds will be used in Ulster County to help defray the costs of chapter services and to support nation-wide and world-wide programs of service such as Services to the Armed Forces and Disaster Service in the 1966-67 fiscal year. G. Allan Johnson, chapter chairman, declared this to be one of the most crucial years in Red Cross history since World War 2.

Heavy expenditures for hurricane victims, increased services to the military in Viet Nam and normal expansion activities make it necessary that the appeal go over the top.

It might be well to remember that the American Red Cross is not only concerned with disasters of nationwide and worldwide significance but in furnishing humanitarian services to individuals both abroad and right in our own backyard.

Here are two expressions that tell this story:

A thoughtful woman from Poughkeepsie wrote recently to an American Red Cross representative in Brazil: "You know, there are so many levels of meaning in saying 'thank you.' You say 'thank you' for passing the salt at the table and 'thank you' for saving one's life. Those two words can mean a little or a great deal. My 'thank you' comes from a sincere and grateful heart."

The writer of the letter, Mrs. Henry G. Bahret, was saying thanks for the kindness she received when her husband suffered a near fatal stroke while they were vacationing in Rio de Janeiro and for American Red Cross aid in obtaining medical help and arranging for his return to the States in time for life-saving surgery.

Floyd Tomberlin, Monroe, N. C., thanked the Red Cross for teaching a stranger the first aid skills that were to save Tomberlin's life. He wrote: "I want to tell you about something that is hard to put in words and that is how I feel about a man who saved my life."

The man was Robert Hughes, of Charlotte, N. C., who happened by when Tomberlin lay hemorrhaging to death following a highway accident. Hughes administered first aid.

"I know now that if Mr. Hughes had not come by and if he had not been trained in Red Cross and if he had not had all those bandages with him I would have died," Tomberlin's letter continued. "A man just can't say what his life means to him, much less what it means to his wife and two little children. All I can say is it means a whole lot more to me now than it did before I had the wreck. I hope there is some way for the Red Cross to honor Mr. Hughes and I wish I could do something more."

To the people who make it work possible by their support, the American Red Cross says thanks on behalf of Mrs. Bahret and Tomberlin and the countless others who received a service when they needed it most. You couldn't hear them say thanks, but the work was done in your name. You Can Help Too — Join Up, Join In.

THE STALLING STARS

It is said that during World War II, Winston Churchill hired an astrologer to assist his generals in their tactical planning — not because he believed in astrology but because Hitler did.

Since the embarrassment of the Nazis, the horoscope casters have been rather in disfavor among the heads of states. It comes as somewhat of a surprise to learn that numerous officials in modernizing India are quite dependent upon guidance from practitioners of this ancient art.

The fact comes to light as the result of charges by a member of parliament, Mr. Krishna Manoharan, that one astrologer used his influence among ministers and other parliament members to seek personal favors.

This alleged mild corruption inside the corridors of power of the Indian government is not cause for alarm, however. If anything, it means the Indians are master-they. 'Wait, wait,' they say. 'In six months

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

SO THE RUSSIANS WEREN'T RACING US TO THE MOON!

It was in Vienna in 1961 that President John F. Kennedy said to Soviet Premier Khrushchev: "Let's go to the moon together." Nothing came of the offer. According to British sources, Comrade Khrushchev had spread the word that the Russians had no particular interest in pushing a moon landing. The Russians had casually mentioned to Sir Bernard Lovell, the director of the British Jodrell Bank satellite-tracking observatory, that they were mainly interested in "instrumented probes." So there wasn't going to be any great race with the Americans to put a man on the moon.

Well, five years have gone by, and it looks as though the U. S. has been had. The Russians have all along been racing to get to the moon—and anywhere else of importance in the firmament—ahead of the U. S. They have been the first to hit the moon with a soft landing. They have sent dogs aloft to test the effects of radiation on possible moon-voyagers. Only last summer they waited a 26,500-pound space craft, Proton 1, into orbit, proving a thrust capability that has yet to be seen at Cape Kennedy. And now they have accurately pointed an unmanned spaceship at Venus and hit it after a voyage of three-and-one-half months.

Now, the Soviet deception about the moon project is nothing very serious in itself. For the Russians, to go to the moon in order to mount a rocket attack on the United States would hardly seem to be good economics. Missiles can be fired from closer bases (Cuba, for example), or from submarines at sea. There is no point in traveling two sides of a triangle when one side will do. What is serious, however, about the Soviet deception in this matter of the moon race is the general credulousness of people in the United States. We have had all sorts of reassurances that if we refuse to compete with the Soviet Union in various phases of the arms race our magnanimity will pay off. Dr. Jerome Wiesner, an adviser on scientific matters to the Kennedy Administration, has told Secretary McNamara that it would be unduly provocative if the U. S. were to develop a successful anti-missile missile. Wiesner assumes the potential destabilizing elements of this standoff "is the possibility that one of the rival powers might develop a successful anti-missile defense."

The point is that if Moscow could lull us to sleep in this business of a competitive moon race, it could also be well along toward perfecting its own anti-missile defense while the Wiesners among us are peep-pooching the desirability of working on anti-missile programs. Who knows? Later in this month General Thomas S. Power, who was head of the U. S. Strategic Air Command for seven years, is scheduled to tell Connecticut Republicans a number of homely truths about the possible menace of Soviet nuclear orbit. In his "Design for Survival," published a year ago, General Power warned us that we might "wake up one morning" to find nuclear-charged Soviet space capsules "floating in stationary orbits over every part of the United States."

We have had reassurances from the Pentagon that, in case of a Soviet "pre-emptive" strike, the U. S. retaliatory force would reply by demolishing everything worth hitting inside of Soviet Russia. But should we take it for granted that this would follow?

The latest "scare" book, a so-called "mega-death mystery" by Phyllis Schlafly and Rear Admiral Chester Ward (retired) that goes by the title of "Strike from Space," warns us that the Russians have the thrust capability to put "gigaton" warheads exceeding the 100-megaton range into orbit in such proliferation that it would "destroy or render inoperative up to 90 per cent of U. S. strategic retaliatory forces." Our co-called "invulnerable" land-based missiles," so the authors say, "are not designed to withstand such unprecedented explosive power." The attack "against the United States could be delivered with complete surprise—with zero warning—because an orbital bomber carrying a warhead in the gigaton range does not need to be detected before the button is pushed."

Should we believe this? Who am I to say?

But for four years I was laboring under the impression that the Russians weren't interested in racing to the moon.

Chicken Liver Is Excellent

• Source of Iron, Vitamins

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My doctor advised me to eat liver for anemia. Would chicken liver be as effective as calves' liver? I like chicken liver better. Are liver extract and vitamin B-12 the same?

A—For persons with some forms of anemia liver is recommended because it is a rich source of both iron and vitamin B-12. The iron is in an organic combination that is more readily utilized by the body than inorganic iron salts. Beef liver is a better source of iron and vitamins than calves' liver but chicken liver is better than either. Liver extract contains concentrated vitamin B-12 but no iron.

Q—If a person has hemolytic anemia, a complicating liver disease and a bad spleen would this be fatal? Would Medrol and large doses of cortisone be helpful?

A—Hemolytic anemia is a disease in which destruction of red blood cells occurs as distinguished from anemias in which there is a failure of the blood-forming organs. Hemolytic anemia may be associated with Rh incompatibility in the newborn, allergy to cold, leukemia, Hodgkin's disease, ovarian tumors, many infectious diseases, many drugs and chemical poisons, severe burns and some poisonous snake bites. The outlook would depend on the cause and the severity. Drugs of the cortisone group are often helpful. Methylprednisolone (Medrol) belongs in this category.

Q—I have been taking Aventyl for depression for eight months. It did not bother me at first but now I get weak and dizzy. Could this be from the drug?

A—Nortriptyline (Aventyl) is a tranquilizer that should not be taken by anyone who has glaucoma or a kidney disease. Among its side effects are dizziness, restlessness, insomnia, blurred vision, drenching sweats, nausea and headache.

Q—I have a disease called dystonia which causes my muscles to go into spasms. Drugs have not helped me. Is there any cure?

A—Dystonia or torsion spasms is similar in many respects to chorea (St. Vitus's dance) and Parkinson's diseases (shaking palsy). The drugs given for palsy have helped some victims but, in general, drug treatment of this disease is unsatisfactory. Surgery offers the best hope for improvement. You should see a specialist in diseases of the nervous system and follow his instructions.

ing the finer nuances of Western-style democracy.

What is disturbing is Mr. Manoharan's further complaint that "problems are allowed to fester because astrologers tell the ministers that the time is not ripe to solve your shining stars will be in the right position." And so they wait.

This, of course, is the same advice astrologers have been peddling ever since the days of Xerxes and Marc Antony up to and including the Empress Dowager of Manchu China.

Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Some seasoned political observers are saying these days that a November victory for Republican Charles Percy over Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois would catapult Percy to the top of the 1968 GOP presidential roster.

A telephone survey taken by this reporter among party leaders in 10 states, including five of the seven most populous, suggests that 1968 may be much too early for even a spectacularly triumphant Percy to go for the brass ring.

A couple of leaders think the Republican candidate situation is sufficiently fluid to make consideration of Percy wholly possible. Most of those queried say he has to prove himself in the Senate, assuming he can get there, before being measured as a White House prospect.

THE FACT THAT THE 46-year-old Percy, the defeated GOP nominee for governor of Illinois in 1964, is talked of by anyone in these terms is some kind of gauge on the enthusiasm (or lack thereof) being stirred by the early season leaders for 1968: Richard M. Nixon and Michigan's Gov. George Romney.

Nixon still has to buck the persistent party complaint that he is a tired face, a twice-beaten man. Romney, though fresher on the national scene, continues to strike many politicians as a one-man faction, given to little sermonettes about the family and morality.

An incumbent Republican governor said recently:

"I'm not very charmed with the 'winer book'."

Actually, Romney in recent weeks has had a couple of stunning party dinner successes — a fund-raiser in Denver and the other a Lincoln Day affair in New Hampshire, where he might have to plunge into the 1968 presidential primary if he were to enter the lists. New Hampshire's Sen. Norris Cotton, a 1964 Goldwater man, offered Romney surprisingly warm attentions.

Yet one or two old party hands quickly marked down Romney's Denver outing as "another boring morality speech," pointing up Nixon's nagging problem.

AS FOR NIXON, currently fueling up in New York for a spring round of appearances for many 1966 GOP candidates, he evidently fanned no dazzling new flames on the Lincoln Day speech circuit. A feeling exists that he is riding on ancient momentum.

Thus it is that handsome Chuck Percy, still without political office, comes to be talked about.

One of the two leaders who said a winning Percy might rocket swiftly to presidential consideration sees it this way: "The 1964 Goldwater race scrambled the party situation badly. I don't see anyone clearly out in the lead for 1968. In such a circumstance, a fellow like Percy could be catapulted to the top in a year."

A supporting view came from an eastern leader who argued that today's "saturation treatment through television" can provide almost instant fame for an attractive personality like Percy.

THE WEIGHT OF OPINION was, nevertheless, the other way. Veteran Republican chiefs contended that the Illinois whiz kid would have to concentrate on building himself a Senate reputation before working on bigger notions.

The logistics of presidential campaigning virtually compel a candidate to hit the road hard and often, 12 to 18 months before nomination time. In one leader's judgment, this would mean Percy would have to start running almost "from the day he was sworn in as a senator."

To another, again an easterner, talk of Percy for 1968 seems not premature but wholly misplaced. Said he:

"He just has no strong following in the party. I'd be hard-pressed to name one man who could fairly be called a Percy man."

Only Voters Could Change Makeup of Senate Committee

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — A split in the United States in the midst of a war crisis is an embarrassment in the conduct of foreign policy. It couldn't happen in Great Britain, where dissident members of a political party might soon find themselves turned out of office in an election held immediately to decide whether a change of confidence should be given to the incumbent party.

President Johnson's policies are largely supported by the Republican party, while his own party is divided and some members are engaged in moves that are making it difficult to carry on a war in which it now is expected around 400,000 Americans will ultimately be engaged.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which is openly showing hostility to the Administration by conducting hearings with an emphasis on pronouncements against the governments policies, is dominated by the Democratic party. The big question for the American people to decide is whether the Foreign Relations Committee should be used as a tool to undermine the prestige of the Administration in foreign affairs.

The only way the voters in America could relieve the present situation is by electing enough Republicans to the Senate next November to cause the Democratic party in the Senate to recommend changes in the personnel of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. This requires a majority vote of the Senate.

Unfortunately, only a third of the Senate's members come up for election this fall, so there is no way for the voters to record themselves against those dissenters on foreign policy who happen not to be up for election this time. But if the nation elected a Republican House of Representatives, this would serve as a warning and have its effect on the Senate.

It is not unprecedented for one party to have control of either or both houses of Congress while the head of the other party is in the White House. Lyndon Johnson, as majority leader of the Senate during six of the eight years of the Eisenhower administration when the Democrats had a majority in both houses of Congress, co-operated with the President, particularly on foreign policy. The Republicans this time could furnish another example of co-operation with a President of the opposite party. The latest issue which the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has decided to take up is the possibility of war with Red China. Although the Administration has consistently made clear that it has no intention of escalating the war prominent members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee evidently believe that some such development is imminent. Yet, as recently as March 3, Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara—in answer to the direct question, "are we not facing an increasing risk of war with China?"—said:

"We have done everything humanly possible—to make it unmistakably clear that there's no justification for Communist China to involve itself in the war in Viet Nam. Just as our policy in Viet Nam is bottomed upon a disavowal of any intention to destroy the Hanoi regime or to seize its territory, our policy rests equally—if not more so—upon a rejection of any actions against China."

"The United States would have no quarrel with a China—even a Communist China—that would not seek to control the lives and the destinies of the nations and peoples of its borders. We would have no quarrel with a China that would devote its energies to the betterment of the livelihood of its own people."

"But Communist China today and in recent years has not been such a nation. It has sought instead to foment revolutions against established governments, not only in such border lands as Thailand and South Viet Nam but in Africa and Latin America as well. And it has engaged in conventional war—in direct aggression and threat of aggression—against India, the Republic of China and the Republic of Korea."

"I assure you that no efforts have been spared—and none will be spared—in direct and indirect diplomacy, in public and in private—to communicate to the leaders of Communist China that America's limited objectives in Viet Nam pose no threat to them. Our words on this matter are loud, clear and sincere. We urge the leaders of China to listen and to understand."

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has ignored the above statements and instead has given widespread publicity to the specious argument that the United States has not been a friend of China and now is threatening it with war. The fact is that, before mainland China became Communist, the United States again and again gave support to China in world affairs.

Seek Spa Man, Estranged Wife Slain by Sniper

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — State Police widened their search today for William H. Bouford Jr., 45, whose estranged wife, Eileen, was slain by a sniper's bullet Monday.

Troopers said, however, that they had no definite leads in the shooting, which occurred as Mrs. Bouford, 33, was putting her pet cat to bed in a shed at her parents' home in the nearby Town of Malta.

The single bullet passed through the shed window, her hand, the cat and her heart. The cat also died.

Police declined to discuss any possible motive. They said the murder weapon—believed to be a high-powered rifle—had not been found. Laboratory and ballistics tests were under way on the bullet, found lodged in her spine.

Mrs. Bouford had been living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Atkins, for about a month. She was separated from her husband, a self-employed house painter, last summer.

Police said Bouford had been living in Malta, near the Atkins home. The couple had no children.

Bills Introduced In Legislature

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Legislature, already deeply engrossed in proposals to change the state's divorce laws, apparently will not have to deal with another emotional subject—abortion—until next year.

The chairman of the Assembly committee studying possible revision in the abortion law left that impression today in the wake of a public hearing on the sensitive subject.

Favor More Study

The chairman, Albert Blumenthal, said that testimony at Monday's hearing indicated that a joint legislative committee should be established to give the matter further study.

Blumenthal, a Manhattan Democrat, commented in light of the testimony at the hearing in which all but one speaker expressed approval for revisions that would broaden the grounds for abortion.

The hearing was among highlights Monday—a day in which the Legislature acted on a score of measures, including Assembly passage of:

—A bill that would freeze the issuance of new liquor-store licenses. The bill passed 120-30, and was sent to the Senate. Its future in that house was clouded.

—A measure that would prohibit prospective employees from asking a job applicant if he had been arrested before he was 19. Government agencies would be exempt from the measure's provisions. Manhattan Republican John Burns sponsored the legislation, which passed, 145-16. All the negative votes were cast by GOP lawmakers.

—A bill that would exempt podiatrists from jury duty in New York State. Physicians, surgeons and dentists already are exempted. The measure passed, 85-53. Its sponsor, Assemblyman Max Turshen, D-Brooklyn, held the law was needed because of a shortage of podiatrists.

See $30-$50,000 Study

Blumenthal said that he thought a joint legislative committee to study the abortion problem would require between $30,000 and $50,000 to finance its work.

The lawmaker noted that, despite the general approval given a measure proposed by Assemblyman Percy Sutton to change the abortion law, most of the speakers had some reservations about many of its details.

The present law permits abortion only if necessary to save the life of the mother.

Sutton's proposals would broaden the grounds to permit abortion if the mental and physical health of the mother were impaired or threatened; if the mental or physical condition of the unborn child were in doubt, or if the pregnancy was the result of rape or incest.

In the case of a pregnancy caused by rape or incest, the district attorney and the courts also would be consulted.

Sutton asked that a five-member medical committee be required to approve abortions.

The witnesses Monday said that illegal abortions—an estimated 100,000 a year in New York State—were dangerous but that the present law practically forced prospective mothers who did not want children to seek out unlawful practitioners.

Other speakers noted that the rate of legal abortions in New York State was much higher among persons who could afford private hospital care than among the poorer economic status.

This, they held, was unfair in that those least financially able to bear children were unable to afford a legal abortion.

One opponent to any change held that more liberal abortion limits would open the practice to "experimenters and dollar-sign operators."

Girl Pleads Guilty

To Robbery-Slaying

OSWEGO, N.Y. (AP)—Jeanine I. Downs, 18, of the Central New York community of Minoa, faces sentencing March 28 on a first-degree manslaughter charge in the death of a 53-year-old man.

Judge Don H. Stacy of Oswego County Court set the date Monday when Miss Downs pleaded guilty to the charge in the robbery-slaying last July 26 of William Scoville of Fulton in a park here.

She and Douglas G. Sheldon, 26, of Fulton originally were charged with first-degree murder. Sheldon was committed to Matteawan State Hospital last September.

Sponsors Yield, Alter Divorce Law Provision

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Sponsors of legislation that would liberalize the state's rigid divorce law yielded today to bipartisan criticism and altered the measure to "make it more palatable."

The Senate sponsor, Democrat Jerome L. Wilson of Manhattan, called a news conference and promised to outline details of a "modification" in the bill's most controversial provision.

Wilson focused on the section that would permit divorce after a married couple had been separated for two years.

One report said the revised section would establish compulsory conciliation proceedings for any couple when one spouse was seeking a divorce on the ground of a two-year separation.

The separation provision had aroused the criticism of the Assembly's Democratic speaker and the Republican majority leader of the Senate. It also drew opposition from the Roman Catholic and Protestant churches.

Both Speaker Anthony J. Travia and Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges are known to have deep misgivings about passage of a bill that would include a provision for "divorce by consent."

Travia is known to be contemplating a revision that would require a husband and wife to obtain a legal separation agreement, then wait two years before filing for divorce.

At present, adultery is the only ground for divorce in New York.

Wilson's measure, co-sponsored by Assemblyman Percy E. Sutton, D - Manhattan, also would permit divorce on grounds of homosexual conduct, physical and mental cruelty and imprisonment of a spouse for at least five years without parole.

Both Travia and Brydges, who hold life - or - death power over all legislation, have predicted passage of some kind of divorce-reform this year.

GE Submits Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Electric Co., Syracuse, N.Y., is one of eight firms that has submitted proposals for the design of an orbiting data relay satellite system.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Monday that the successful bidder would receive a six-month contract for a study of the characteristics of a system of ground stations of data-relay satellites in synchronous earth orbit above the equator.

'Like Heaven When Furnace Went On'

Dakota Village Blacked Out, Some Tell of Blizzard Ordeal

BUCHANAN, N.D. (AP) — The 100 residents of Buchanan, a tiny village marked by a grain elevator on the central Dakota plateau, fought drifts that buried homes to survive last week's blizzard.

Power Out 24 Hours
The storm also blacked out power for 24 hours.

Ralph Cebula, 49, owner of the town's only bar, and his wife watched from their green frame home as the storm gathered Wednesday. It was 6:40 p. m. Thursday when the lights went off and the furnace stopped.

"How long?" thought Mrs. Cebula, and she looked at her 10-month-old twins and 8-year-old son.

Through the night the wind screamed and the living-room thermometer dropped.

Cebula and his wife bundled the twins into snow suits, and wrapped them with blankets. Cebula took his family into the basement, where it was warmer.

In the early morning, Cebula took an empty coffee can, stuffed it with rags soaked in rubbing alcohol and lit it. The makeshift stove heated milk for the babies.

Friday evening, Cebula went up to check the thermometer. It was just above freezing. The power came back on at 6:40 p. m., just 24 hours after it quit.

Mrs. Cebula said later, "When I heard the furnace turn on, I felt like I had entered heaven."

Alvin Schumaker, a repairman, climbed a 40-foot-power pole in 70-mile-an-hour winds to repair a broken switch, restoring electricity. He and Clayton Snitker, a petroleum jobber, struggled through piling drifts to find the trouble spot.

Walter Riker, 68, lived alone in a small trailer house. He watched the storm build, checked his food supply, and went to bed.

Thursday his home was covered by a drift, and sifting snow came down his chimney, drowning the flame in his oil burner. Riker turned on an electric heater. Strangely, power on his side of the highway stayed on.

He remained buried in his trailer for three days, in bed under an electric blanket. The temperature inside, he recalled, dropped to 42 degrees.

"I didn't have much water," he said, "so I sipped it real little. I saved five cans of beer for the last."

The solitude droned on through Friday. Saturday afternoon a group of men led by Cebula dug through the drift and freed the trailer door.

"When I heard voices outside," Riker said, "it scared the hell out of me."

The Dakotas and Minnesota braced today for strong winds and possibly additional snow as residents continued digging out from the storm that had left 18 dead in the three states. Some snow and snow flurries, as well as freezing rain or sleet, was forecast to accompany strong southerly winds in portions of the states.

Sgt. Friday Back In Old Haunts - 'Dragnet, 1966'

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Dum-de-dum-dum is back."

If you don't know what dum-de-dum-dum is, you must be terribly young. That was the opening theme of "Dragnet," which was one of television's most notable series in the years from 1952 to 1959.

Two-Hour Version

The saga of Los Angeles police operations made a millionaire of Jack Webb, who produced, directed and starred as Sgt. Joe Friday. Webb moved on to other enterprises including television series and most recently, a post as head of Warner Bros. Television.

He is now in the midst of filming "Dragnet 1966," an up-to-date, two-hour version of the show for broadcast by NBC. I dropped out to see the filming and it appeared that time had stood still for Joe Friday. He has the same stolid face, the same emotionless voice, and he's still a sergeant.

"But I'm exactly 10 pounds heavier than when I finished the series," confessed Webb. The poundage no doubt came from his tour of executive duty, a role in which he considered himself miscast.

"A lot of my friends, were upset when I was fired from Warners — much more upset than I was," said Webb, who enjoyed the balm of $3,000 weekly severance pay for a couple of years.

"I wasn't happy behind a desk. I'm much more in my element out here on the floor with the others."

Has Fresh Partner

Sgt. Friday has a new sidekick in the two-hour drama, which comprises three actual cases from Los Angeles police department films. The fresh partner is veteran character comedian Harry Morgan. He replaces Ben Alexander, the longtime Frank Smith of "Dragnet."

"We wanted Ben back," explained Webb, "but he had already signed for a pilot film at Fox. They wouldn't let him loose for ours."

"Dragnet 1966" is another of a series of feature-length films made especially for television, with the added potential of a release in theaters overseas. It is a forerunner of the operation which the networks may need to face when they run out of old movies.

The show has another purpose: as a pilot for the return of the half-hour "Dragnet" to television.

Describes Dog Mistreatment on Animal Farms

WASHINGTON (AP) — A police captain who says he is "used to crimes of violence" has told a House subcommittee investigating dognaping how he and his men became sickened at the sight of mistreated dogs at animal farms they raided.

Capt. Thomas S. Smith of the Maryland State Police told members of the Agriculture subcommittee Monday that "strong, effective legislation is badly needed." Smith said individual states cannot cope with the job of regulating "a tremendous interstate business of laboratory animal supply."

The police officer related how he and other "experienced criminal investigators, men who are used to crimes of violence, were shocked and appalled" when they found sick, emaciated, chained and penned dogs at the raided animal farms.

The subcommittee is considering legislation aimed at halting illegal interstate trafficking in stolen dogs and cats.

It was flooded Monday with requests to testify and was forced to limit testimony to five minutes per person. Most of the witnesses strongly endorsed the legislation, but a plea for caution came from scientists and researchers.

Dr. Bernard Zommermann of West Virginia University, testifying on behalf of the American Surgical Association, said spectacular advances in surgical treatment of abdominal cancer were made possible by experiments on animals.

Most witnesses for the scientists, however, made it clear they favored the intent of the proposed legislation but wanted to make sure it does not restrict legitimate research.

Negligence Action Heard in Court

On trial before Supreme Court Justice Lawrence D. Cooke and a jury is a negligence action arising out of an accident at Smith Avenue and Prince Street May 3, 1964. Francis J. Reid and son, William, bring an action against Ronald Berger and another to recover for injuries.

Plaintiff William Reid was a passenger in the car operated by Ronald Berger of Saugerties. At the time they were en route to take Reid to his Orchard Street home following a ball game at Dietz Stadium. At the junction of Smith Avenue and Prince Street the car struck a tree.

The time Berger said he believed a tire blew, causing the accident. John J. Schick of Schick and Klein appears for plaintiffs and John L. Larkin of Larkin and Vogt, appears for defendants.

A automobile negligence action brought by Thomas M. Burns and another against Thomas Cummings and another, has been announced settled. William Curran for Plaintiff and Hubert Dicker for defendants.

Defy Allen Order Teachers Start Picket Line at Plainview School

PLAINVIEW, N.Y. (AP) — Teachers in this Long Island area threw up picket lines today in the start of a strike against the district Board of Education over wages and other issues.

The picketing by both male and female teachers started at 7 a.m. — 1½ hours before the first classes were scheduled to start for the 12,000 pupils in the district.

The walkout was called by the teachers' union in the face of an antistrike order by State Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr.

The district, covering part of Nassau County, has one senior high school, two junior highs and nine elementary schools.

Jerry Berger, president of the Plainview-Old Bethpage Federation of Teachers, has said that more than 400 of the 590 teachers in the district support the strike.

Superintendent of Schools Robert Savitt has said all schools would be open today. "We are confident we will have a sufficient number of teachers to operate our schools," he said.

Savitt said that if the union abandoned "the one unattainable and illegal objective — its demand to share in decision making — the whole matter could be speedily ended."

The union, Local 1401, American Federation of Teachers, is seeking an average two-year salary increase of $1,500 per teacher. Salaries in the district now range from $5,600 to $10,650 after 14 years.

Allen intervened last Friday night, issuing a stay against the strike in an unexpected development. Normally, attempts to bar teachers strikes are taken to court.

Reds Propose Talks

TOKYO (AP) — The Communist Pathet Lao has proposed talks with the three political factions in Laos "to check the new and dangerous military schemes of the U.S. imperialists against central and lower Laos."

Hanoi Radio said Prince Souphanouvong, whose Pathet Lao forces and the Ho Chi Minh Trail from North to South Viet Nam, proposed the meeting in a message Jan. 24 to his half-brother, neutralist Premier Prince Souvannaphouma.

Souvannaphouma also has proposed that he and Souphanouvong meet with Prince Boun Oum, leader of the rightist Laotian faction, in an attempt to get their three-party coalition operating as a government for Laos. Such a coalition government was provided for in the 1962 Geneva agreements on Laos but has never functioned.

Plaza Letters Draw Fire From Kreines

Recent letters directed to Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan from Kingston Plaza merchants about traffic problems up town drew fire today from Robert Kreines, up town merchant. Plaza men have had high praise for two way traffic now in effect on Clinton Avenue and say this has eliminated traffic tieups on Fair Street.

Kreines said today he does not see how the matter concerns the Kingston Plaza shopping center at all unless selfish motives are involved. "Let me reiterate," he said, "what I said about this earlier. By changing Clinton Avenue to a two-way street, we have created another ingress to the shopping plaza. If I were a merchant there I, too, would applaud the change as it now stands, but I'm not."

Kreines, who operates a shoe store on Wall Street, said further: "Suddenly the shopping plaza is 100 per cent for two-way traffic and why shouldn't they be? If my little pebble isn't making enough ripples, may I suggest that this traffic pattern be continued on a temporary basis until after Easter to determine a decision of permanency."

There is no other way to prove whether these efforts have eased the traffic congestion in the up town area, says Kreines, since "you can't run a test for the cure unless the guinea pig is first injected with the virus."

Sees Peking Entry

such as bombing of North Viet Nam's major cities — might not impel the Chinese to escalate their involvement in smaller ways which might lead to much higher risks of direct American-Chinese clashes that are not desired by either side.

As the hearing opened President Johnson's critics seemed to be doing the most talking but his supporters appeared to be rolling up the most votes against challenges to his conduct of the Viet Nam war.

Fulbright, has indicated he is not going to be swayed from his criticism by the Foreign Relations Committee's 13-6 rejection Monday of a restrictive amendment he sought to attach to a $415-million Asia aid bill. Barnett said he believes that the time has come "even though the United States is now engaged in a bitter struggle in Viet Nam, for our government to alter its posture toward Communist China and adopt a policy of containment but not isolation."

Has Two Aims

The containment policy, Barnett said, should "aim on the one hand at checking military or subversive threats and pressures emanating from Peking but at the same time aim at maximum contacts with and maximum involvement of the Chinese Communists in the international community."

Set Senate Vote On $6 Billion New Tax Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate begins voting today on the administration's $6-billion tax bill with supporters moderately confident they will be able to defeat a barrage of major amendments.

The bill's managers said they were hopeful that the measure, designed to help pay for the Viet Nam war, could be passed today. Otherwise, they said, final action would come Wednesday.

Hits Excise Hike

Gore's first vote today after a two-hour debate limitation was to be an amendment offered by Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., to knock out two excise tax hikes in the bill and substitute an alternative revenue source.

Gore's substitute would be a two-year suspension of the 7 per cent investment tax credit enacted in 1962 to encourage companies to modernize their plant and equipment.

He told the Senate Monday that the credit was not needed now — when everyone is worried about too much spending by business on investment.

Highly Useful

But Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., one of the bill's managers, said the credit has been a highly useful device in improving business capacity and efficiency and is needed more than ever now.

The excise provisions which Gore seeks to eliminate would restore the 7 per cent excise tax rate on autos and 10 per cent rate on telephone service that prevailed before Jan. 1. On that date the rates dropped to 6 and 3 per cent, respectively.

No Piano Players

MONSON, Mass. (AP)—Boys aren't playing the piano nowadays, complains the headmaster of Monson Academy for Boys, Dr. George E. Rogers.

"This year at Monson there is only one boy out of 225 who will admit to being able to play the piano," he said in an interview Monday.

An amateur pianist himself, Dr. Rogers blames parents for not encouraging boys to take up the instrument.

Civil Air Patrol Groups Take Part In Survival Test

Fifteen cadets from three area squadrons of Civil Air Patrol participated this weekend, March 5 and 6, in a winter survival exercise in the Phoenicia-Shandaken area.

They left Kingston at 8 a. m. aboard the Dutchess County Squadron bus, and reached the survival area about 9 a. m. In less than an hour improvised shelter to protect them from the elements was all set up, made from parachutes and materials available at the site. The cadets quickly learned the importance of warm, dry clothing.

Classes were conducted in map reading, safety procedures, and arctic first aid.

The five local cadets taking part in the exercise were: Michael Kozenko and Michael Keon of the Kingston Composite Squadron; Thomas Koepen, Don Laurence and Carl Studd of the Ulster County Composite Squadron.

Sgt. Richardson, senior member of the Dutchess County Squadron, was in charge of the camp.

Saturday afternoon, Major Sidney Lane, Commander, and Capt. Mike Kozenko, commandant of cadets, inspected the encampment area and activities of the group. Sunday morning found the mission crowned by a fresh blanket of snow.

Reactions Vary To Vote Ruling

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Supreme Court ruling that Congress has power to suspend literacy tests used by states in voter requirements brought varied reactions from Southern officials.

Gov. Robert McNair of South Carolina, the state which originally filed the suit attacking the constitutionality of the 1965 Civil Rights Act, said it is "certainly possible" it would ask for a rehearing.

Black Dissents

But Gov. Carl Sanders of Georgia merely said, "The Supreme Court has spoken."

The high court handed down its ruling in Washington Monday. Except for a dissent by Justice Hugo L. Black on one part, the ruling was unanimous.

"Hopefully, millions of non-white Americans will now be able to participate for the first time on an equal basis in the government under which they live," Chief Justice Earl Warren said in the majority opinion.

Warren said Congress has the power under the 15th Amendment to suspend literacy tests and to order federal registrars into the South to "banish the blight of racial discrimination."

Justice Black dissented on a provision of the law that bars states covered by it from adding voting amendments to their constitutions or passing new laws without review of federal authorities.

He said that section treats states as if they were "little more than conquered provinces."

There are about 5,000 miles of canals and rivers in The Netherlands.

City Tax Rolls Ready, Bills Are Mailed

City Treasurer Orric R. Riehl has issued notice that the city tax roll is complete and taxes are to be collected.

Taxes may be paid in two equal installments within 30 days of notice when both installments are due. The official notice says: "If any taxpayer shall pay the full amount of his taxes within 30 days of the date of notice, he shall be entitled to deduct therefrom an amount equal to one-half of one percent thereof. The law provides that penalties be added to taxes not paid during the above stated periods."

First installment is payable up to March 31 without penalty. A two per cent penalty will be charged after that date and to April 30. After that date the penalty goes to five per cent plus a $1 notice fee.

Deadline for the second installment is May 31. After that date the two per cent will be charged to June 30, after which the usual five per cent penalty plus $1 notice fee will be charged.

The city treasurer's office, City Hall, is open daily from 8:30 a. m. to 4 p. m., and a deposit box is available at police headquarters, City Hall around the clock.

Pa. Teener Wins Top Honors in Science Search

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Pennsylvania teen-ager who hopes to study biochemistry at Harvard won top honors in the 1966 Westinghouse science-talent search among the nation's high school science seniors.

Henry Wagner Jr., 16, Gwynedd Valley, Pa., received a $17,500 scholarship Monday night for his work in determining the exact arrangement of amino acids in an animal protein.

His structure has produced considerable disagreement among scientists in earlier studies.

Other major prize winners in the competition sponsored by Westinghouse and science service included Barry J. Klyde, 17, of Flushing, N.Y., $6,000 scholarship. Klyde found he could modify, by controlled breeding, the appearance of an inherited fatal defect in mice.

The scholarships were presented at a banquet concluding a five-day science talent institute in Washington for the 40 finalists selected from 2,800 entrants.

Klyde lives at 141-15 72nd Ave., Flushing.

Sheriff's Department To Use Empty Rooms

An unoccupied room on the third floor of the county court house has been converted by Sheriff William B. Martin for use of deputies engaged in civil work and for use as a "report" room.

Desks which were formerly located in the jail receiving room on the ground floor have been moved to the new location, freeing needed available space in the receiving room and also eliminating congestion and confusion.

A considerable amount of the work in the sheriff's department is that of civil work which requires a large amount of report filing. This work can now be done in the quiet of the new facilities.

Sheriff Martin has also made plans to convert a second room on the third floor into a "evidence" room where materials entrusted to the sheriff as evidence may be locked up. This presently unused room was sealed off from the other areas some time ago when an outside stairway was constructed as a fire-well exit from the grand jury room and other floors of the court house. The fire tower sealed off all outside windows and all means of ventilation to the room.

Flees Bulgaria

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Maria Voinea, 30, a circus performer, has sought political asylum in Milan after fleeing Bulgaria — what might be called the hard way.

Miss Voinea told police Monday she fled the Communist country hidden in the luggage compartment of an Italian doctor's car.

Cause of Crash

Probers Claim Crack Train Went Through Signals

CHESTER, Mont. (AP) — The Great Northern Railway's Western Star, on a makeup schedule after being stalled in North Dakota blizzards, "obviously went through red signals" before colliding head-on with the Empire Builder Monday, a GN official said.

Paul F. Cruikshank of Spokane gave this preliminary conclusion as investigators attempted to find out what caused the two crack passenger trains to collide five miles east of Chester in central Montana's wheat country.

Both Died

Engineers of the two trains — Bernard L. Runyan, 67, and Eric A. Walter, 68, both of Whitefish — were killed. Thirty other crew members and passengers were admitted to four community hospitals and more were treated as outpatients.

GN President John A. Budd of Minneapolis, who was on the Empire Builder in a company car with other executives, said the Western Star apparently was going nearly 80 miles an hour.

Cruikshank said the trains met in an area under centralized traffic control, meaning they were operating entirely under signal indication.

The Empire Builder had been directed into a siding five miles east of Chester.

First Since Blizzard

The Empire Builder, which originated in Seattle, left Spokane about midnight. It was the first scheduled GN train to operate east of Spokane since the Dakota blizzard stopped traffic last week.

The Western Star was operating on a makeup schedule to take passengers and mail west from Breckenridge, Minn. Cruikshank said. The train had been stalled there since Friday on its Minneapolis-Seattle run. It was the second westbound GN train since the storm broke.

Budd said the Empire Builder was slowed to about 10 miles an hour and preparing to enter a siding to let the Western Star pass.

Many Municipal Units File for Special Districts

ALBANY—An increase of almost 70 per cent since 1960 in applications received during 1965 from units of local government in New York State seeking to form or extend special districts and make special improvements was disclosed today by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt.

Total contemplated aggregate maximum expenditures for the 207 applications approved by the Comptroller amounted to $75,561,057.48. Funds for the projects are provided through local bond issues.

Among the approvals were 170 special districts and special improvements to provide services to residents of towns outside villages and to residents of towns, villages and cities in three county districts.

For the most part, requests received were for new water districts, water district extensions, sewer districts and sewer district extensions.

Levitt said he expected a marked increase in water and sewer district applications in 1966 with the passage of new legislation on water pollution abatement at both the state and federal levels.

A complete report on the applications by municipality will be included in the 1965 annual "Special Report on Municipal Affairs" published by the Department of Audit and Control.

Thin Blue Line Too Complicated For Hour Viewing

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — A policeman's lot apparently is no happier today than it was when Gilbert and Sullivan wrote a song about it. ABC, in a timely special Monday night, showed it to be, at best, a dreary routine of coping with other people's troubles and, at worst, death in line of duty. "Thin Blue Line," an hour documentary, skittered nervously and inconclusively in the controversial areas of police powers, allegations of brutality and the questions of civilian review boards. It was most effective when it was showing professional men at work. But it was a subject far too big and complicated for a single 60-minute program. As narrator Van Hefflin pointed out, our national crime bill runs to $24 billion a year.

CBS came in first again in the national A.C. Nielsen rating race, this time for the two-week period ending Feb. 20. Averages of ratings for prime evening time shows were CBS, 20.8; NBC, 19.3, and ABC, 18.7.

Top 10 shows in the Nielsen projections of audience sizes were: NBC's Bonanza, CBS' Red Skelton Show, Gomer Pyle, Beverly Hillsbillies, Carol Channing Special, Lucy Show, NBC's Man From U.N.C.L.E., ABC's Bewitched, CBS' Andy Griffith Show and the Thursday episode of ABC's Batman.

NBC will expand its "Meet the Press" program this Sunday to an hour for an interview with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Recommended tonight: "Our Friends, the French," CBS, 10-11 EST, a study, in the lighter vein, of our long-time allies, with Eric Sevareid presiding.

Pays Fine

Elmer Sweet, 45, of Route 2, Middletown, was given the option of a $10 fine or 5 days in the county jail by Justice Herbert Weinsoff of Town of Warwick after being arrested in Ellenville Monday on a charge of permitting an unlicensed operator to drive his car. The arrest was made by Ellenville troopers. Alfred Evans, 53, of 52 Hulse Avenue, Middletown, was charged by troopers with being an unlicensed operator. Justice Weinsoff imposed a $10 fine or 5 days in jail. The fine was paid.

State Senate Takes On Floridian Look

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The price of a sunlamp compared with the cost of an airline ticket to Florida weighed in the minds of many state senators today.

They compared themselves and their general winter pallor from exposure to the southern sun that stood out Monday as the Senate convened.

The colorful visages belonged to Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges, Finance Chairman Warren Anderson and Sen. Clinton J. Dominick, who had flown to Florida for a weekend away from Senate chores.

In the Assembly, Perry B. Duryea Jr., also a Republican, made the trip with the three senators as well.

Slow Thruway Traffic Must Use Flashing Lights

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Trucks and other vehicles traveling less than 40 miles an hour on the State Thruway will have to display flashing lights as a warning to other vehicles.

R. Burdell Bixby, chairman of the Thruway Authority, said today that the lights will serve as a safety feature.

Signs notifying truckers they will have to switch on the flashing lights if the speed of their vehicles drops below 40 have been posted at the bottom of five of the Thruway's longest hills.

The large vehicles are most likely to drop below 40 miles an hour nearing the end of a long upgrade.

Other signs have been posted to warn motorists of the possibility of encountering the slow vehicles.

$2,900,000 Grant Is Urged For Albany Police Academy

The State Traffic Safety Council today urged approval of a $2,900,000 appropriation for the establishment of a statewide Police Academy in Albany to provide training in the police sciences and traffic control work for the law enforcement officials throughout the State.

Governor Rockefeller has submitted the budget request to the Legislature for its consideration and approval.

The Council's annual report, titled "Another Year for the Road," released today said: "There is a serious need for an Institute for Traffic Science. When set up it will be the only such facility on the entire Eastern Seaboard."

In a statement accompanying the release of the report, the Council's Executive Director, Joseph Kusala said:

"We recommended the establishment of the Academy last year and we are hopeful that funds will be appropriated for this year. This facility will have a lasting and far-reaching impact on law enforcement and traffic control work throughout the State. It will represent a permanent improvement in the highway safety problem."

The average policeman seeking professional guidance or training in traffic control work today must go out of State to obtain it. Aside from in-service training facilities provided by some major law enforcement agencies, there is currently no place in the State of New York where a policeman who wishes this training can get it."

Because of the lack of such facilities, the Council has been conducting field workshops for officers. In the last 12 months approximately 1,600 officials from some 200 municipalities have participated in the Council's seminars. These seminars covered the drinking-driver problem and the need for closer and better cooperation between the courts, prosecution and police in coordinating highway safety programs. Lack of proper enforcement in dealing with drinking drivers remains one of the most serious problems in the state, according to Mr. Kusala. During the past five years several thousand policemen have been trained in various phases of highway safety and in the application of business management techniques to cope with traffic control problems in an effort to reduce deaths, injuries and accidents on New York highways.

In 1963 the Council predicted the state would suffer 2,750,000 deaths and injuries in the decade of the sixties. Kusala reports "we are now more than half-way home. To date the state has suffered 1,442,070 deaths and injuries of which 12,553 were fatalities. The injury rate will be higher because these figures only include injuries for the first 11 months of 1965."

There was a 2.7 per cent drop in the fatalities for 1965; 2,728 killed compared to 2,803 for 1964.

In a further intensification of its efforts to train police, the Council will launch another series of eight workshops on traffic engineering starting in April. They will be held at Glens Falls, Farmingdale, Rochester, Buffalo, Valhalla, Syracuse, Binghamton and Ogdensburg.

The Council's report again points out there is a serious shortage of traffic engineers throughout the State at all levels of government. It has urged all counties to establish traffic engineering departments and urges all municipalities to avail themselves of the services of traffic engineers.

In addition to working with State, County and local officials, the Council has cooperated closely with statewide civic, fraternal and service organizations as well as women's groups. These organizations have promoted traffic safety conferences, teen-age seminars, public speaking, safety meetings, public education programs and support for traffic safety legislation and engineering.

The Council is private, non-profit organization dedicated to traffic safety. Gov. Rockefeller is the honorary chairman. William S. Renchard, chairman of the Board of the Chemical Bank New York Trust Company is the Council President and Francis R. Elliott, President of the Borden Company is the Chairman of the Finance and Advisory Committee. The Council's operations are supported by business and industry contributions. It is currently seeking funds for its 1966 work and has sent a statewide appeal to business and industry for support to continue its important work.

When Medicare arrives... will we say goodbye to our older members?

Definitely not...that's what our new Senior Care is all about.

This new plan, designed especially for Greater New York's Blue Cross and Blue Shield members eligible for Medicare, in no way duplicates Medicare...it adds to it.

You see, Medicare doesn't attempt to cover everything. It isn't intended to.

But with Medicare plus new Senior Care, subscribers will have a higher level of benefits than ever.

For instance, Medicare doesn't pay the first $40 of a hospital stay. Senior Care pays this. Medicare doesn't cover health costs when you travel abroad. Senior Care does. And there are many other examples.

Senior Care and Medicare mesh together so well that Blue Cross and Blue Shield subscribers who are 65 and over will find that the combination offers them an even higher level of benefits than they now have.

These subscribers will soon be receiving complete information—by mail or through their groups. They will have an opportunity to be protected by Senior Care on July 1—when Medicare begins.

We hope all these subscribers who are eligible for Medicare will decide to take Senior Care—for their own protection.

Besides, we hate goodbyes.

Justice Black's Dissent Rulings Are Explained

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — The complexity of Hugo L. Black alongside a fiery belief that the Constitution means exactly what it says shines through the Supreme Court's affirmation of the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

Black, 80 nine days ago and an associate justice since 1937, won't sit still for any label, be it "liberal," "conservative" or "activist." And he won't sit still when he feels his fellow judges have marched off in the wrong direction, no matter how worthy the goal.

Got Unanimity

Black demonstrated this again Monday. Chief Justice Earl Warren got the unanimity he wanted for upholding two key sections of the voting law — the suspension of literacy tests where used to keep Negroes from the polls and the dispatch of federal examiners to those areas to register qualified Negroes.

But Black wouldn't go along with his eight colleagues in upholding a third key section of the law that would require new state voting laws to pass federal muster.

From his seat to Warren's right, the position traditionally reserved for the senior justice, Black lashed this ruling because it would treat states "like separate corporate units with no power of their own."

Scanning the less than half-filled chamber, Black said, "I would have yielded a lot not to have had to file a written dissent in this case — but I felt compelled to do so."

Often Stands Alone

As he has so many times in the past 28 years, often standing alone, Black made his case by looking smack at the Constitution. There he found nothing to support what Congress had done and the court approved.

"Nothing like that was ever contemplated when the Constitution or the 15th Amendment was adopted," he said.

In his written opinion, Black added: "I see no reason to read into the Constitution meanings it did not have when it was adopted and which have not been put into it since."

Two weeks ago, a bristling Black went to the Constitution and found nothing to prevent any state, including Louisiana, from making it unlawful to stage "sit-ins" in public libraries.

He found the "sacred" right to protest clearly protected by the First Amendment, but not "the right to use someone else's property even that owned by government and dedicated to other purposes as a stage to express dissident ideas."

This reading led Black, a champion of human rights, to vote against reversal of "breach of peace" convictions of five Negro civil rights demonstrators.

Again Black was in the minority but again he raised his voice loud and clear.

In crackling anger he said, "I shall never agree to any opinion or holding that people may go anywhere and insist on staying in that place to exercise their right to talk."

Dissent can be a lonely pursuit and to a casual observer, at least, it would appear to be a trying position, especially for a man of 80. But almost daily, Hugo Lafayette Black gives evidence that his fighting spirit will not be curbed.

Change in Caption

In an advertisement for Robert Kreines children's shoe store appearing in Monday's Freeman the caption should have read "Babies are born with 'flat' feet."

Both Sides Appreciate Views on Granny Wear

TRUMANSBURG, N.Y. (AP) — Theodore Bateman says he and school officials "have come to better appreciate" conflicting views over whether his three daughters may wear granny dresses to school.

The Batemans and Board of Education officials met Monday night to discuss a ban school authorities had put on the wearing of the ankle-length dresses by his daughters, Faline, 15, Teddie, 14, and Ramona, 12.

The three girls, who made the dresses themselves, had been suspended for wearing their dresses to class Monday in defiance of the ban.

Later, Faline returned to the Charles O. Dickerson High School in a "short, but not too short" skirt while her mother said it was important that she not miss any schooling.

After the meeting, Bateman, a research associate at Cornell University, said the family did not intend to defy the school board's stand.

The board contends, in general, that it has the right to regulate proper attire and, in particular, that the long dresses could cause the girls to trip on the stairways.

Vandalism Brings School Buses to Halt in Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — About 900 pupils at Arlington High School had to do without their school buses this morning to get to school. Bus company officials say it is the pupils' fault, charging that their vehicles "came into the garage looking like they had been hauling cattle."

Edgar A. Claffey, president of the privately owned Indianapolis Transit System, Inc., said service on 12 routes serving a four-square-mile section of the fashionable North Side had been halted.

"I know this action is going to hurt many innocent pupils, but we are going to have to have some assurance the continuing vandalism and rowdiness will end once and for all," Claffey said.

Claffey praised school officials, who "have done everything in their power to stop damage to buses."

Thomas M. Haynes, vice principal of the 4-year-old school, said there have been repeated problems on the 12 routes.

"We caught two boys last week who had cut a section of a seat," he said. "We made them pay fully for the damage."

The Other Day

We read that in Antarctica there is a small duplicate of the Dead Sea, with water seven times saltier than in the ocean. It is in a valley where temperatures reach 40 degrees below zero, but this pond doesn't freeze. Another of nature's riddles are two ant-covered with ice fourteen feet thick, which have layers of fresh water below the ice with temperatures up to 70 degrees above zero. There are certainly more mysteries in this world than knowledge, but we do hope there is no mystery about our TOP VALUES and service!

Appoint Wilson As Alternate on Defense Council

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County announced today he has been designated as an alternate member of the New York State Defense Council to succeed Assembly Minority Leader Perry B. Duryea Jr., of Suffolk County in the event of a national or state emergency.

The State Defense Council, which was created under the provisions of the State Defense Emergency Act, consists of the Governor, the Lt. Governor, the Attorney General and the chairman of the State Civil Defense Commission, as well as the various majority and minority party leaders of both the State Senate and the Assembly.

There also are 12 other members on the Council who are appointed by the Governor. In 1963 the Defense Emergency Act was amended to provide for successors to the various members of the Council in the event that any member was unable to reach his post during the time of an emergency. Similar action was taken on the county level throughout the State, including a Local Law which was passed in 1963 by the Ulster County Board of Supervisors to provide for the continuity of government in the county in the event of an enemy attack or a public disaster.

Assemblyman Wilson said the State Defense Council would be removed to the State's Alternate Seat of Government if there was ever an attack on this nation by an enemy power, or in the event of any major disaster in the State, and that the Council would function as the entire State government during the time of such an emergency.

By virtue of his designation as an alternate member of the State Defense Council, the Ulster County Assemblyman could assume all of the duties and responsibilities of the Assembly Minority Leader if Assemblyman Duryea was unable to reach his post during the period of a State emergency.

Red Targets . . .

the Marines to 360 killed and four captured. The Vietnamese 2nd Division claimed 24 killed, 20 captured and 43 weapons seized.

Estimate Double 634 Count
The Allied forces estimated that the number of Communist troops killed in the fierce fight was double the body count of 634.

The operation now has ended. The Vietnamese navy said it had intensified patrols of the waterways, inspecting 629 junks and searching 2,533 persons in the past 24 hours. One junk was seized and 28 Viet Cong were apprehended.

Aussies to Triple Force
Australian and Vietnamese spokesmen announced the 1,500-man Australian combat force will be tripled shortly. They said the 1st Battalion of the Royal Australian Regiment will be replaced in May by two infantry battalions, a special reconnaissance squadron and combat and logistic support units, a total of 4,500 men.

The mobility of the 46,000 U.S. Marines in Viet Nam got a boost with the arrival of 27 Sea Knight CH-46A medium helicopters at Da Nang from the carrier Valley Forge. They are each capable of carrying 20 fully armed Leathernecks into battle or a load of up to 2½ tons.

The new helicopter squadron, under the command of Lt. Col. W.C. Watson of Justin, Calif., brings the Marine chopper force in Viet Nam to nearly 200 aircraft.

Terrorism Continues
Communist terrorism continued on the upswing in the villages around Nha Be, the big fuel depot five miles south of Saigon. In the past three days, government sources said, the Viet Cong dragged a 19-year-old hamlet official from his home and executed him, killed another and wounded three others, including a hamlet chief.

A terrorist blew himself to bits Monday when a bomb he was carrying on a bicycle in Nha Be went off accidentally.

From Singapore came word that the island state's government, a critic of U.S. policies in Southeast Asia, will put out a welcome mat of sorts for a limited number of American GIs from Viet Nam. Government sources there said initially 300 American servicemen will be allowed to make the 600-mile flight from Saigon to spend 10 days of rest and recreation in Singapore, but they will be required to wear civilian clothes.

Premier Lee Kuan Yew's government hopes the visits will provide a boost to Singapore's ailing economy without drawing too much criticism on the newly independent state from other members of the African-Asian bloc.

Other leave centers for American troops in Viet Nam include Hong Kong, Bangkok, Tokyo and Manila.

Peking radio seemed indirectly to be admitting an increasing toll on Communist forces by broadcasting a statement by a woman Viet Cong leader saying the war "will become harder and more cruel" with the American buildup.

The official New China News Agency added that Nguyen Thi Dinh, a 45-year-old Viet Cong deputy commander, said that the movement's women "have been steered in struggle" by fighting together with their men.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market staged a moderate recovery in fairly active trading early this afternoon.

Following Monday's selloff, the worst since President Kennedy's assassination in 1963, many of the worst-battered stocks snapped back a number of points.

Zenith won back half a dozen points of its 12½-point drop of Monday. Fairchild Camera recovered 3 points or so of the 11½ points it lost.

Blue chips shared in the rebound well enough so that the Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 5.95 to 923.71. It fell 14.58 Monday.

Brokers attributed the rise to bargain hunting by traders and investors, with no particular connection with the news background, which has remained fundamentally the same.

Farmers Advised To Enroll Now In ACP Program

The Ulster County ASCS Office at 54 John Street is now taking enrollment in the 1966 ACP Program. Farmers who intend to do liming, build farm ponds, construct drainage ditches and plant trees should stop at the office now and enroll for cost-sharing on these projects. The initial "Sign-up Period" ends March 15 and approvals for enrollment after that date depend on available funds.

Handbooks outlining practices have been mailed to all county farmers. Soil test reports for the liming practice are not required at time of sign up. Even though planting plans aren't certain at this time, farmers should use their best estimate and enroll now to be included in initial sign up.

Forms may be mailed upon request. Office hours are 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., Monday through Friday.

U.S. Disturbed

direct "no" to the De Gaulle proposals.

Thus, Chalmers M. Roberts said in his story, the long-simmering Franco-American dispute over the future shape of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization reached a dramatic and critical point.

The Post said Johnson in effect served notice that the United States is prepared to move its military establishment out of France rather than switch it from control by NATO as a whole to that of France alone.

There were strong indications that this stand has the backing of the 13 other NATO nations, the Post said.

A spokesman at the French Foreign Ministry in Paris said he could make no comment on the Post's report.

De Gaulle's request was made in a letter to Johnson. The letter was handed to U.S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen by Maurice Couve de Murville.

De Gaulle's letter reached Washington at 3 p. m. At 7:15 p. m., the Post said, French Ambassador Charles Lucet was called to the State Department and handed Johnson's reply by Undersecretary of State George W. Ball.

Johnson also was reported to have asked De Gaulle what he intended to do about French forces now under NATO command in West Germany.

The letter was regarded as De Gaulle's opening diplomatic move in his demand for restoration of French command over French troops in NATO and foreign troops and installations on French soil.

The U. S. government had been reported as completely unwilling to put any American forces in France or any other country under the command of foreign officers.

The U. S. Air Force, Navy, and Army all have bases on French territory. Apart from some aerial reconnaissance operations, the bases are mainly supply and repair installations.

Plans are moving forward at UCCF for introduction of the two-year electronics program in September. Those completing the program will receive the AAS Degree. Plans are now moving forward for the installation of a completely new laboratory in one of the buildings now under construction at Stone Ridge.

Recognize Growing Need

College officials recognize the ever growing need for well qualified electronics technicians and look forward with great anticipation to the new program. Many adults anticipate enrolling in the new program for part time evening study, while students from the area high schools who graduate in June plan to start a program of full time study in September. Graduates will be prepared to enter manufacturing and engineering industries as Electronics Technicians, Laboratory Assistants, Engineering Aids, Draftsmen and Design Assistants.

Explain Reason For Endorsement Of Rosendale Man

The chairman of the People's Party in the Town of Rosendale explained today the reason for the party's endorsement of the candidacy of Joseph S. Reid for village trustee.

Erik Reich, chairman and spokesman for the party, said in a prepared statement that the People's Party "is confident that Mr. Reid has all the qualifications to work in harmony for the Village of Rosendale with the remaining members of the Board, one of which was elected on our party ticket, and the other was elected on the Democratic Party ticket."

Since Reid was selected for the trustee candidacy by the Democratic Party, Reich said, "we of the People's Party, knowing full well the stand that Mr. Reid has taken on vital issues, have endorsed him as being the best man for this office of village trustee, and urge full support of this candidate."

Reich raised five questions concerning the village which he said the People's Party would like answered. They include:

"1. Why was the building alongside the firehouse purchased by the village; for what use? and what is to be the disposition of this property?"

"2. Why was the village subjected to the expense and cost of a survey and drilling of dry test wells when there was federal and state funds available for this purpose?"

"3. Why was another well drilled up on Mountain Road and the cost of this hole not made publicly known?"

"4. Why did the Secretary of the Interior Udall state that Rosendale was not attempting to utilize its water resources?"

"5. Why is Rosendale the only incorporated village in the state whose population has decreased since its incorporation?"

Reich said, "We must not be doing something right."

At the village election will take place March 15.

Quiet Prevails

no one is minimizing the possibility that the fur will fly.

Officials have already stated that they have not found "any factual, conclusive evidence to indicate that the proposed incorporation of the Village of New Paltz would prove beneficial, financially or otherwise, to the taxpayers of the village."

They have called tonight's meeting, they said to clarify their stand on the issue and to bring the facts before the voters in order to "insure an intelligent vote on the proposition."

Little Data Available

The board released its findings last week; said cases on record of a second-class village being incorporated are so rare that very little information is available regarding the results of such a move.

The other camp has been quiet; made no attempt to answer charges by the trustees or to put their own case before the public. Their petition stands and the question will be voted on March 15. What effect tonight's public meeting will have on which way voters pull the levers in the booths next week remains to be seen.

Reservoir Property, Saugerties Board Rejects Purchase Of Land Offered

On offer by Attorney Ernest E. Schirmer of Saugerties to purchase 10 acres of land owned by the Saugerties Water Department in West Saugerties was rejected by the Saugerties Village Board at its meeting Monday night. Schirmer had proposed the purchase at $100 per acre, but the board turned thumbs down on the sale upon recommendation of Robert Moser, president of Saugerties Board of Water Commissioners.

Moser was opposed to the sale for several reasons. He said the property in West Saugerties is continually increasing in value and that the parcel wanted by Schirmer boasts a shale bank that can be used to advantage by the village in the future.

Department Solvent
He also said he felt it is not in the best interests of village taxpayers to sell the land at this time and pointed out that the Water Department is completely solvent, and does not need the revenue involved.

For the most part, the rest of the meeting involved routine business and refreshing of matters that have been considered several times in the past. The only real exception was a request from Mid-Hudson Municipal Association, urging the board and the village to join it in protesting a move by the Hudson River Valley Commission to take over 6,000 acres of land in the towns of Cornwall and Highland. The Association charges that the Commission, which seeks to preserve natural beauty in the state, grabbed the land without proper public hearings and following a unilateral study.

The board, feeling more information was needed before it could take a stand one way or the other, instructed Village Clerk James Gage to contact both groups for copies of reports and recommendations.

In other business, board members accepted an invitation to attend the annual Saugerties Fire Department's Chief's Night honoring retiring Fire Chief Le Roy W. Snyder at a dinner March 29 in VFW Hall. Members also accepted as recommended officers of the Police Department's Fire Department for the coming year, and granted exemption papers to fireman Harry Burnett of C. A. Lynch Hose Company. Burnett has served the required five years time as a volunteer.

Want Tree Removed
A group of southside residents had recently approached Trustee Gregory Mulstay with a request for the removal of a large tree near the C. A. Lynch Hose Company meeting rooms. The tree, apparently dead, is considered dangerous; its roots are exposed; and it is near both telephone and power lines. No private property is involved in the removal since it is on village-owned property, and the superintendent of public works will take care of the matter in the near future.

Mulstay had also lent an ear to the urging of several Partition Street merchants interested in the possibility of designating certain areas in the municipal parking lot on Partition Street for all-day parking, while reserving a portion for two-hour parking. Presently, many car owners already park in the lot all day; seem to utilize only the front section for this purpose. The feeling prevails that the rear of the lot should be designated for all-day parking and the front for two-hour shoppers. Police Commissioner Charles Steele will investigate possible changes.

Steele, as usual, had several matters to report. He noted a request from Amercoat Highland Pipe Band of Saugerties for permission to use the auditorium for the next six months on a Monday or Wednesday for rehearsals. This baggage aggregation has been in existence for a year. Buildings Commissioner Arthur York will work on this matter, contact Frank Hudak of the pipers' brigade.

Steele said the police training school for Zone 4 which includes Ulster County will be conducted at Ramapo police headquarters at Tallman from April 18 to May 6 and that the two most recent members of the police force here, George Derbyshire and Roy Olsen, will attend this course. He also plans to meet with the Saugerties Jaycees, he said, to brief them on work necessary to bring Saugerties' traffic control devices and regulations into conformity with State recommendations. The Jaycees have offered their assistance in any way possible on this matter which has been discussed for several months.

Ordinance on Junkers
Steele is also beginning work on drawing up a proposed ordinance to deal with abandoned automobiles here; noted there are now six such vehicles reposing in the parking lot behind the municipal building.

Parks Commissioner Maurice Clements reported that the big annual, general, spring cleanup is on in Saugerties. He said public works crews are removing the winter's accumulation of rubbish from streets and will shortly remove some of the curbing in the municipal parking lot near the new Masonic Lodge building. The lodge recently decided a right-of-way to the village and some curbing must go if the village is to utilize the right of way in providing an exit from the parking lot to Russell Street.

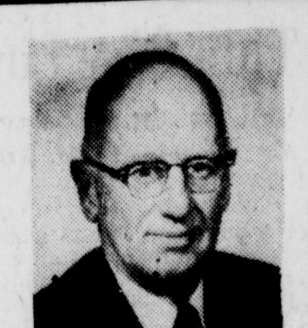

Parks Commissioner Richard Underhill reported that lights have been turned off at the skating rink on Main Street. The winter of 1966 was one of the poorest skating seasons in memory and the rink was used only a few days this year.

Widow With Family Has Inflation Protection

Q "I am a 68-year-old widow, with a lovely daughter, a fine son-in-law and three splendid grandchildren. They make their home in a distant state but I wish to remain in this city where I was born. Can I do this on my income of $5,200 a year received from Social Security, interest on savings, dividends and $1,000 a year from my brother's estate? An I protected against inflation? Can I afford to sell my home and rent an apartment for $150 a month big enough for my children to visit me? Any comments on my stocks will be appreciated."

A A. A. It is pleasant to encounter a lady so happy with her family and so well situated financially. If you were younger and working, I would consider a $150 a month rent too high in proportion to your income. At your age, after paying rent, you will have $3,400 to live on plus additional income from the proceeds of your house sale. This, I believe should be sufficient for you.

Your stocks, too many for individual comment appear strongly pointed toward growth, especially Eastman Kodak, Texaco, Borden. I would retain all your shares, which are of generally high caliber. They should provide you with inflation protection.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here's a quickie sewing hint for doll clothes.

Handkerchiefs make wonderful doll clothes.

On a man's handkerchief, there is almost four feet of edging to use for tiny hems, sleeves, camisole tops, etc. Two will make a darling dress for a baby doll.

Small printed or flowered handkerchiefs work up into adorable doll housedresses.

Little girls can design their own doll clothes with these handkerchiefs.

Helen Bisonette

Beautiful flowered and printed handkerchiefs can be bought at the dime store for about 10 cents each. Yes, and some even have lace trim.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

To eliminate puckers from those hard-to-iron pillow or blazer slipcovers with corded edges, I use a warm steam iron on them. AFTER putting them back on the pillows.

Mrs. Rebecca Howard

Dear Heloise:

You mentioned turning down one corner on the back cover of a magazine (and your husband another) when you had finished reading it.

Why not write your initials on the first page, and each one who reads it thereafter can do the same?

I also do this with paperbacks, before passing them on.

M. J. E.

Dear Heloise:

We had a lovely old etching stored in the attic, but the mat was spotted and dull with age. So, we applied white liquid shoe polish to the mat (with the applicator on the bottle cap), the polish was quick-drying, the mat looked like new, and was ready for re-framing in no time.

A drop or two of food coloring could be added to the polish, if one wanted a tinted mat.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

My boys had difficulty at school remembering dates or certain information . . . but they could recite a TV commercial from beginning to end.

Delilah

Dear Heloise:

When living in an apartment where there is usually a mix-up of trash cans and lids, I take red fingernail polish and print our address and apartment number on our garbage can and lid.

Maybe you can use this hint from a 10-year-old.

Daarla Meeks

Dear Heloise:

My eldest daughter discovered that a brown, felt-tipped marker is marvelous to use around the edges of shoe soles and heels when polishing them.

Makes them like new.

Phyllis

Dear Heloise:

For those of your readers who have a top-loading dishwasher, I use mine when I sprinkle clothes. I open the lid and lay each item on the top rack as it is being sprinkled.

This will eliminate any wet sink counters, etc., where we usually sprinkle clothes.

Betty Parnes

Dear Heloise:

It's surprising how many letters one addresses; then, for one reason or another, decides not to mail them.

Why waste a perfectly good envelope and five cents? Just put the gum-backed label over the address.

Raps Conclusions On Rejecting Riverways Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A report recommending thumbs-down on a proposal to improve the water route between the Hudson and St. Lawrence Rivers was under sharp attack today.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said Monday that conclusions reached in the report, submitted by the International Champlain Waterway Board, show the impact of railroad interests opposing the waterways.

The board said it had concluded that the proposed waterway would not attract enough shipping to make it worthwhile. Despite these adverse findings, the International Joint Commission plans to hold a series of public hearings in May.

The commission, which has jurisdiction over joint U.S.-Canada waters, then will report to the two governments.

The board considered five alternate plans. The two major proposals would involve development of a 27-foot-deep channel to accommodate deep-draft ships from the St. Lawrence to the Hudson River at Albany.

The inland distance between New York City and the St. Lawrence is 408 miles. By water, however, the distance between the St. Lawrence at Montreal and New York is 1,661 miles.

An existing alternate route follows a 264-mile-long path from Albany to the Champlain section of the State Barge Canal and, in Canada, the Chambly Canal and the Richelieu River.

Cost estimates in the report range up to $1.8 billion and the board predicted that an inland water route open only in summer would be an uneconomical competitor with trains, trucks and other transportation.

Cardinal Conway Here

NEW YORK (AP) — William Cardinal Conway, Roman Catholic primate of Ireland, has arrived in the United States, but he won't be here long enough to attend New York's famed St. Patrick's Day parade March 17.

The cardinal plans to spend one week in Florida, Alabama and New York. The purpose of the visit, he said, is to take part in the dedication of the restored 400-year-old St. Augustine Cathedral in Florida.

Bliss Sees Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman Ray C. Bliss predicts his party will score "substantial gains" in November's congressional elections.

Talking with newsmen at a weekend meeting of big-city GOP chairmen, Bliss said inflation and "Democratic in-fighting" over Viet Nam policy are helping Republican prospects.

Goodman did not open four-card majors. Hence his call of one club. West's double was one of those useless psychics. North's jump to six was an all-purpose gamble. He thought his partner would make six unless a spade was led and decided to bid slam and hope for the best.

East's double was sound but he hadn't counted on his partner. West opened the king of spades. North was unhappy with that lead but it certainly delighted South. He gobbled up the king with his ace and led a club to dummy's king. East probably should have ducked but instead he won with the ace and returned a spade.

When South won that trick East snarled, "What a lead. You could have opened a heart, diamond, or club and beaten the hand."

This was enough for Goodman. He heard and assumed that East was void of diamonds. Hence he led a club to dummy's queen. Came back to his jack and took a first-round diamond finesse to make his contract.

Narcotics Taken From Phoenixia Pharmacy Sunday

Gordons Pharmacy in Phoenixia was entered some time Sunday night and a quantity of narcotic drugs were taken from the narcotics cabinet.

The entrance was discovered Monday morning and Ulster County Investigator Thomas F. Mayone and Deputy Sheriff Robert Gremie conducted an investigation. Entrance to the pharmacy on the main street of the village was gained through a rear window. The narcotics cabinet was forced and 155 Dolphine pills and 159 Dilaudid pills were reported missing. Both drugs are used as substitutes for heroin.

An inventory taken in the store Monday disclosed nothing else missing. Apparently the person who entered was seeking only narcotics. The investigation is being continued.

Expect Approval Of $25 Million For State Roads

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits and Rep. Howard W. Robison, both R-N.Y., say they expect the Appalachian Regional Commission to approve this week up to $25 million in highway funds for New York.

The lack of an immediate commitment of such funds sparked a controversy last year when the state first was invited to participate in the program.

Gov. Rockefeller asserted New York was being treated as "second-class citizen." The commission then agreed to review the highway needs of the 13 Appalachian counties in New York.

Robison, of Owego, and Javits said Monday that $10 million would be approved in the current fiscal year and $15 million for next year.

The first project will be 44.4 miles of Route 17, between Lowman and Binghamton, in the Southern Tier, they said.

An additional 189 miles of Route 17, west of Elmira, is under study.

The veteran reporter retired last week after 42 years with The AP, including 22 at the Pentagon. Originally from Schenectady, N.Y., Fay began his career at the Albany AP bureau in 1924 and went to Washington eight years later.

The Army citation praised his reporting through the years as "consistently clear, sound and of a responsible, constructive quality."

'Dead as Dodo,' Is View on House Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., says President Johnson's proposal that House members serve four-year terms is "just about as dead as the dodo."

Stratton, of Amsterdam, listed Monday two objections that Congressmen have raised.

— The lack of congressional election every two years would deprive voters of an opportunity to register their views halfway through a presidential term.

— Members elected in presidential years might become "dependent on the president's coattails," with a possible reduction in the independence of the legislative branch of government.

G-U Sales Up

Highest annual sales in the company's 94-year history, the total represented an increase of 5.4 per cent over the 52-week 1964 fiscal year sales of $740,039,690. This is the third year in a row that Grand Union has set a new record in sales. ## Cancer Society Starts New Drive On Cigarettes

SYRACUSE — A major new educational program directed at adult cigarette smokers was launched here today by the American Cancer Society, New York State Division, Inc.

The new program, "The Time to Stop (Cigarette Smoking) Is Now," emphasizes that "quitting cigarettes, even after years of smoking, is a wise step to longer and healthier life," according to Dr. William H. Hall Jr., Jamestown, chairman of the Division's Public Education Committee, and Charles H. Dick, Buffalo, chairman of the Division's Public Information Committee.

Leaves No Doubt

"It has been demonstrated beyond a shadow of a doubt that cigarettes cause lung cancer," Dr. Hall and Dick said in a joint statement. "The longer one continues to smoke, the greater his chances of getting lung cancer and coronary heart disease."

"Cigarette smoking is directly responsible for the premature death of more than 125,000 Americans each year. The cigarette-related mortality figure is put at 300,000.

"Almost twice as many heavy cigarette smokers as non-smokers are hospitalized, and cigarette smokers suffer far more general disability. Lung cancer, emphysema, circulatory disease, chronic bronchitis are too often the tragic dividends of cigarettes."

A new American Cancer Society pamphlet, "Who, Me? — Quit Smoking!", which will be used extensively in the educational program, declares that, "once you have stopped smoking cigarettes" the following will occur:

- "1. If you have a 'smoker's cough, you'll probably lose it; chances are you'll enjoy your food more. Most people, in fact, feel better generally."
- "2. Your prospects of living longer increase. Each year without cigarettes, death rates fall, until in 10 years your odds are almost as good as the man who never smoked."
- "3. Most of the damage done by smoking cigarettes is repaired by the body itself. Damaged cells are replaced. The harmful effects on the heart and circulation diminish and disappear."

"4. The chances are that your children won't start. If you continue to smoke, the chances are they will smoke, too."

Smokers Wane

Dr. Hall pointed out that, according to figures from Dr. Luther L. Terry, former Surgeon General of the United States, there are about 18,000,000 ex-cigarette smokers in the country.

The American Cancer Society has prepared a new film, "The Time to Stop is Now," which will be used in the educational program, and which is available through County Units of the Society. The animated cartoon, color film explains the body's capacity for self-repair. Particular emphasis is given to the effects of stopping smoking, as related to lung cancer and heart attack.

Posters are also available through county units.

Both Dr. Hall and Mr. Dick joined in emphasizing that "The Time to Stop Smoking Cigarettes is now!"

Says Organized Medicine Is Not Facing Medical Manpower Shortage

EDITORS NOTE — In many realms of U.S. medicine, acute shortages are cropping up today. In part, they're due to the very successes of medical science. This second of five articles on medicine today examines some key areas of concern.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Dozens of reasons are advanced as causes of today's shortage of doctors and health personnel.

The diagnosis includes, ironically, two elements that have made American medicine very good medicine indeed.

One is its quality, stemming partly from very high standards of medical school training, most observers point out. But this has limited the output, with only about 8,000 new doctors being graduated annually from U.S. schools.

New Medical Techniques

Another is brilliant progress from research—new drugs, new surgical and medical and rehabilitation techniques, all making the physician far more effective than in the old sugar pill and sympathy days of medicine.

Today's doctors can do more. But, as in open-heart surgery, a whole team of surgeons, physicians, nurses and other skilled people may become involved for one patient at a time.

A cardiologist estimates 45,000 heart attack victims, who now die soon after their attacks, could be saved each year if major hospitals all had intensive care units. But each unit requires a 24-hour staff of nurses, doctors and technicians, razor sharp in skills, ready to rush to a patient's bedside at the first sign of trouble.

Some Research Is Minor

Too many go into research for "nice 9 to 5 jobs, less" fewer physicians on the firing line seeing patients," says one busy New York City internist. "Lots of the research is minor."

Administrative tasks, government and military service, other jobs also employ doctors. Right now, only 63 out of every 100 U.S. doctors are engaged in private practice.

Each year, 10,000 young American men and women are turned down in their applications to enter medical schools—88 of them now. There are five schools of osteopathic medicine.

At least 13 new medical schools are being started, but it takes 10 years and $35 million or more from initial plans for a school to the first graduating class. And medical education is costly — $16,000 to $20,000 over four years.

Many Study Abroad

Many rejected U.S. students have been going to foreign schools, but some of those schools are now closing their doors to them. Americans trained abroad are estimated to comprise about one-quarter of the 1,400 newly licensed doctors each year who studied outside the United States and Canada.

The rest constitute part of the "train drain" from other countries.

"Organized medicine and organizations of medical education are not facing up to the problems of the medical manpower shortage," says Dr. Eliot Corday of Los Angeles, president of the American College of Cardiology.

Defend Health Domains

Organizations, like individuals, often tend to resist change. Dr. Michael E. DeBakey of Houston, Tex. notes that professional organizations tend to become "guild-like, and rigidly and staunchly defend their health domains."

Is it still necessary to train all medical students alike, he asks? Present laws virtually require this — to obtain his license, the physician must pass examinations measuring his knowledge in many areas of medicine.

"But it is really necessary for an ophthalmologist to know how many bones there are in the foot?" he asked.

Curricula Experiment

Numerous medical schools are in a ferment of re-examining and experimenting with their curricula, to streamline teaching, make it more effective.

A few are experimenting with compressing four years of college and four of medical school into six years total for picked students, and report this approach looks promising.

Some observers stress a shortage of modern skills as a serious problem.

The majority of doctors never go back to school for refresher courses, and are "practicing today's medicine with yesterday's tools and information," declared Dr. W. Albert Sullivan, Jr., of the University of Minnesota Medical School.

Low Pay Is Blamed

The manpower shortage includes pediatricians and psychiatrists, medical school faculty—nearly 1,000 positions are listed as unfilled; nurses, technologists, medical social workers and librarians, hospital pharmacists, X-ray technicians, orderlies, and many others.

Low pay often is blamed. Girls can earn higher incomes, in most cities, as stenographers than registered nurses.

Some groups of hospital workers are notoriously underpaid, said Dr. John Knowles of Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, and "you can't feed the poor sawdust and expect them to protect your birthright." And if, as applies to some big hospitals, "You have dingy, shabby surroundings for people to work in, you wind up with shabby personnel, and not many of them."

Next: needs vs. tradition.

VALENTINE SURPRISE—Valentine's Day came a little late to Tom Tiede, correspondent in Viet Nam for Newspaper Enterprise Association, but it was none the less welcome. Fifth-grade pupils of Grant Elementary School, Port Huron, Mich., chose as a project making valentines for Tiede, who is shown here opening some of them in Saigon. "Best thing about Valentine's Day," Tiede said in his thanks to the youngsters, "was that it was always closely followed by kite-flying weather, buds on the trees and then baseball and, then, summer vacation."

Q — I filed my return as soon as I got my W-2 in January. When should I get my refund?

A — A refund return filed early generally takes about six weeks to process. A missing signature, Social Security number or other error or omission will delay the processing. That is why Internal Revenue urges taxpayers to give their returns a final check for completion and accuracy before sending them in.

Q — How do I handle the money my son earned last year? If it is under $600 do I have to include it with my income since he is my dependent?

A — No you don't. Regardless of age, though, if your son earned $600 or more during the year, he must file a return of his own.

Must File for Refund

If any tax was withheld from his pay, your son must file a return to get a refund even if his earnings were under $600.

Q — I just sold some property I inherited from my father. What do I use as the cost of the property — what my father paid for it or the value when I inherited it?

A — Generally you would use the value at the time of your father's death.

Q — My bank keeps asking for my Social Security number. What right have they to do that?

A — The law requires banks and other institutions to obtain the tax account number, usually the Social Security number, from individuals they pay dividends and interest.

Booklet Available

Q — Where can I get a copy of "Your Federal Income Tax"?

A — Get in touch with your local IRS office or write to either your District Director or the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Printing Office, Washington, D. C., 20402. This booklet explains the individual income tax filing requirements in greater detail than the 1040 instructions. It costs 50 cents.

Q — How long has April 15 been the filing deadline for federal income tax returns?

A — It was changed by Congress in 1964. The deadline had been March 15.

Q — A strike put me out of work for some time last year. For part of the time I had strike benefits and then I was able to get unemployment insurance. Is any of this income taxable?

A — Strike benefits are generally taxable unless they are clearly intended as a gift. Unemployment payments are not taxable.

Q — I had an illness last year that kept me off the job from November until late February. Do I have two waiting periods to establish for my sick pay exclusion since the illness covered two years?

A — No. The waiting period applies to the time absent due to a specific illness whether it stretches from one year to another or not. There would only be another waiting period if you had returned to work and then suffered a relapse which kept you off the job again.

Deduct Fee

Q — Can I deduct the fee I paid an accountant to help me prepare my tax return?

A — Yes, you can. If, however, you are a cash-basis taxpayer, note that this expense is deductible in the year it is paid. If the accountant did this work and was paid in 1966, the expense won't be deductible until 1967, when you file your 1966 return.

Q — I've heard that students get a double exemption. Is that right?

A — In a sense it is. A full-time student who files his own return claims an exemption for himself. If his parent provides more than one-half his support then the parent may also claim an exemption for him providing other dependency tests are met.

Q — I am separated from my husband. Which tax table should I use when I file my return?

A — For tax purposes, you are considered married if there has been no divorce or legal separation by the end of your taxable year. Therefore you have the choice of filing a joint return with your husband and using Tax Table B or of filing a separate return and using Tax Table C.

Q — I got a refund on my state tax last year. Is that considered income that has to be reported?

A — If you itemized your deductions last year including the total you paid in state tax, then you have to list the refund as income. If you took the standard deduction last year then you don't treat the tax refund as reportable income.

See Instructions

Q — Where can I find out about retirement income credit? I think I qualify.

A — This is explained on page B-3 of the instructions for Schedule B of Form 1040. These instructions are included in some 1040 packages. Copies are available at local IRS offices.

Q — We suffered several minor casualty losses last year. Does the $100 deductible apply to each one or to the sum of our losses?

A — The $100 deductible applies to each separate casualty.

Q — A Social Security is not taxable but how about Social Security lump sum death benefits? Are they tax free too?

A — Yes. All Social Security benefits are tax exempt.

Q — I had more than $174 withheld for Social Security last year because I had three jobs. What do I do about this?

A — The excess should be claimed as a credit against your income tax liability. You do this on line 17a of the Form 1040. Identify the credit as "excess F.I.C.A."

Q — My post office has most of the forms I need. There is one they don't have, however. Where can I get it?

A — Contact your District Director.

Middletown Man Is Indicted in Woman's Slaying

GOSHEN, N.Y. (AP) — A 22-year-old Middletown man was indicted for first degree murder Monday in the auto jack slaying of June Barnes at her home near Middletown last Dec. 4.

An Orange County grand jury handed up the indictment against James P. De Vito, 22, of Silver Lake, a suburb of Middletown. The indictment also included a count of first degree robbery.

Mrs. Barnes' body was found in a field near her home at New Hampton, another Middletown suburb. She had been beaten to death and the auto jack was lying nearby.

GREETING THOSE IN RECEIVING LINE

Q: In two weeks I expect to go to my first big wedding reception which is to be held at a fashionable country club. Will you please tell me how to greet those in the receiving line and what do I say to them?

A: When you arrive at the reception, if there is an announcer, you give him your name and he repeats it to the bride's mother. If there is no announcer, you announce your own name to the bride's mother, shake hands with her and say "How do you do" and add something pleasant about the bride, the day, or the wedding in general.

If the groom's mother is standing next to her, you shake hands with her, too. You then move along with the queue of guests who are waiting to greet the bride and groom. If you are in doubt about being known to the bride and groom, you give your name, shake hands with the bride, and add, "I wish you every happiness!" Then you shake hands with the groom and say "Congratulations and all good wishes."

A Bread-and-Butter Note

Q: My fiancé and I spent last weekend with married friends of ours who live in another city. I would like to know if it is necessary for each of us to write a bread-and-butter letter to our hostess, or would one note written by me for both, be sufficient?

A: One note written by you for both, is sufficient.

Sipping Coffee or Tea

Q: Will you please tell me if it is permissible to sip tea, or coffee, from a spoon if it is too hot to drink from the cup?

A: It is entirely proper to sip the first few spoonfuls of hot tea or coffee until it is cooled sufficiently to drink from the cup.

Premiere of Vilella Ballet Is Scheduled For 1966 at Saratoga Performing Arts

Saratoga's new $3,610,000 Performing Arts Center will present a world premiere next summer. Edward Vilella's first major choreographic work, "Narkissos," will be unveiled there in July, during the course of the New York City Ballet's four-week residence at the famous spa and participation in the initial Saratoga Festival.

Robert Prince has been asked to compose the score for "Narkissos," whose title suggests that its subject material stems from Greek mythology. Part of the proceeds of the ballet company's annual spring benefit of the New York State Theater will be applied to the commission of the new work. The April 19 production fund program in Lincoln Center will introduce two works by Merce Cunningham and John Taras.

American-born and American-trained, Edward Vilella is recognized one of the leading male dancers, not merely of the New York City Ballet, but of the international ballet scene. Although he has created short works for television, "Narkissos" will mark his first full-scale effort in the choreographic field. It will also serve as the vehicle of Vilella's debut as a choreographer for the company with which he has so long and so closely been identified. He expects to dance the title role himself.

Mr. Vilella speaks of his Saratoga premiere with enthusiasm. "I'm particularly pleased that the performance will take place in Saratoga Springs," Patricia McBride and I gave a joint recital there a few years ago. We fell in love with the venerable spa, and with the beautiful vacationland all around it. We hope we gave the idea of the performing arts center a little impetus by appearing in Saratoga. And we've been looking forward to returning ever since. Let me add that we're not the only ones who are excited about Saratoga. For the whole New York City Ballet company, the Center represents the dream of a summer home come true."

Secret of Good Cooking: Good Recipes

ROCK LOBSTER PIE

"What makes a good cook?" The query comes constantly from young homemakers particularly. We asked a wise old woman what she thought would be a wise old answer.

It wasn't what we expected. Thought she'd say a "feel" for cooking, or an inherited gift, or rich ingredients. She said, "Good recipes."

As simple as that. Good recipes and, of course, a sincere desire to read them correctly and follow them accurately. Then to adjust them to the family's needs and personal taste preferences.

Here is just such a good recipe. It's got imagination and style. It's original and mighty good eating. The tender juicy pieces of South African rock lobster meat are subtly seasoned with parsley, onion and celery and then baked into a delicately flavorful pie. This popular seafood from some 8,000 miles across the Atlantic Ocean lends itself to so many excellent recipes.

And see how easy this one is? Easy as pie.

Benedictine Ladies List Spring Plans

St. Patrick's Day will be observed by the Benedictine Hospital Auxiliary with the sale of green carnations in the hospital on that day. "This was reported by the Ways and Means Committee at the recent auxiliary meeting presided over by the president, Mrs. Charles Turck.

Mrs. Philip T. Feeney, chairman, reported that the annual spring ball, "Shower of Pink," will be given on April 16th at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Johnny Michael's and his orchestra will play for dancing from 9 until 1.

Other business of the recent meeting included the decision to send two delegates to the Mid-Atlantic Conference of the American Hospital Association at Atlantic City on May 16, 17, and 18th.

Once again this year, the auxiliary will participate in the Sister Aloysius Scholarship Fund for a graduate of the school of nursing. This will help to enable the student to continue her studies in her chosen field of nursing.

Along with all members of the hospital organization, the auxiliary will aid in presenting a Rodeo and Ho! Show during the Memorial Day weekend in May. This will be a major effort on the part of the hospital towards the current building fund. Sister Mary Charles C. B., co-administrator of the hospital, expressed the hope that the community will plan to support this program of entertainment.

Mrs. Charles Turck, president, has appointed Mrs. Donald Abenethy chairman of the June meeting which is always an essentially social activity on May 4th. There will be no general meeting of the auxiliary in April.

Two new members, Mrs. Charles Sharp and Mrs. Paul Maggiore, were introduced at the March meeting. Mrs. James Sweeney, program chairman, presented Mrs. Margaret Nener and Mrs. Olga Dowers, who demonstrated the correct application and use of all types of cosmetics.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Paul Sullivan and Mrs. Joseph Matey. Hostesses for the evening were: Mrs. Joseph Graham Jr., Mrs. John Kelley, Mrs. James Lynch and Mrs. Allen Baker.

Ossining Couple Take Marriage Vows

Miss Laura-Lynn Finley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Finley of Twin Ridges Road, Ossining, N. Y., became the bride of Robert Cornelius of 29 Linden Avenue, Ossining, on Saturday, Feb. 26, in the First Presbyterian Church in Ossining. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Cornelius and is ward of Robert E. Haines of 48 Roosevelt Avenue, Kingston.

The Rev. Dr. Victor Baer officiated at the 5 p. m. ceremony in a church decorated with white carnations and a fan shaped floral arrangement for the altar.

A reception for 65 guests at the Hilton Inn in Tarrytown followed.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of silk organza with long lace sleeves and an Empire waistline. A five-foot train was attached to her A-line skirt and a three-tier waist-length veil fell from her lace crystal and seed pearl crown. She carried a bouquet of white orchids surrounded by miniature carnations and lily of the valley.

Maid of honor was Helen Sturm of 74 Cedar Road, Westbury, N. Y., a cousin of the bride. She was attired in a floor length crepe Empire gown with a cranberry velvet train and cranberry veil. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations with a cranberry rose in the center.

Miss Eileen Hanlon, of 44 Laurel Street, Fairhaven, Mass., a cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. She was attired in the same manner as the maid of honor and carried identical flowers.

Best man was Charles Milley of 22 Everett Avenue, Ossining, a friend of the bridegroom. Robert E. Haines of Kingston, guardian, was a member of the wedding party.

The bride is a graduate of Jamaica High School in Queens and is a student at Lesley College, Cambridge, Mass. The bridegroom is a graduate of Ossining High School and is a student at Pace College, Westchester. The couple plan to reside in Ossining.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

Harry Darby of Roscoe earned the title of "Patron Saint of the Beaverkill" for his gallant stand against State Department of Public Works encroachments and rape of the Beaverkill and Willowemoc, two of the world's finest trout streams.

In three chilling sentences at The Trout Unlimited dinner Friday night, he put his finger on the ancient dilemma confronting sportsmen and conservationists around the country.

"We're in the terrible process of subtracting trout streams in our great country," said Darby. "We're slowly becoming have-nots. We're trying to hold the line, but we could do better."

Darby was terse and to the point. But he left the impression that sportsmen everywhere are losing their historic battle against the onslaught of progress and commercialization. We got the impression from Darby and other speakers at the excellent dinner that the odds are stacked heavily against the sportsmen.

• Newcombe Has Hopes:

Senator Lloyd Newcombe, the principal speaker, was sympathetic to the plight of the sportsmen but not even his words of comfort and hope lifted the clouds that hang over Trout Unlimited and other dedicated sports groups across the country.

Sen. Newcombe acknowledged that pressure from commercial development was the greatest enemy of the conservationist. He said there should be room for both in our expanding society—commercial progress and adequate trout streams and facilities for the nation's horde of hunters and fishermen. The evidence indicates that it's easier said than done. At best the sportsmen and conservationists are engaged in a holding action and the situation figures to get worse before it gets better.

• Man and Nature:

Robert Frasier, who handles publicity for Trout Unlimited, made the bald statement that man, on his own, has never built as much as one-half mile of good trout stream. He said streams should be managed individually and the management of trout is for the benefit of trout.

The Catskill Mountains Chapter of TU is a unique organization. The club was the first to receive a TU charter in New York State a short time ago. New chapters have since sprung up with local assistance at Albany and Binghamton. A relatively new organization, Trout Unlimited has some 32 chapters in 15 states, with more in various states of organization.

William Coler, the retiring president who was succeeded by John Rogers of Saugerties, is an articulate spokesman for the aims of Trout Unlimited. It contends, he said, that management of trout for the benefit of trout, is in the end, the best policy for quality fishing.

• Individual Management:

TU also contends that each stream, or groups of similar streams, must be managed individually—that across-the-board regulations for streams whose water quality, habitat and pressure vary widely, is not adequate. It advocates a "wild trout" policy, that is a stream should be managed so that the harvest does not exceed its natural reproduction and fish growth potential.

TU believes that "put and take" stocking programs should be reserved for streams which are marginal in quality and would provide no significant trout fishing by any other management technique. They should be reserved also for streams and lake which, while otherwise suitable for trout, had no adequate natural reproduction potential. Otherwise, TU holds, these streams should be managed as wild life streams.

The organization advocates conservation of the remaining good trout waters to as high a degree as practical. It advocates prevention of watershed destruction, unnecessary stream bed degradation through gravel removal, bank destruction, flood control channeling, etc.

• A Defensive Battle:

As Coler pointed out, most of the conservation battles being fought today are defensive. It's time, he said, more emphasis was placed on the preventive.

The Catskill Chapter does its work well and president-elect John Rogers outlined several projects for the year: extended season in the Esopus, trout (forums) at Binghamton and Phoenixia, monthly meetings, state assistance for public fishing rights, affiliation with the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County; Fish for Fun area similar to that at Croton.

"And," Rogers told the 50-odd members of the club, "there will be a stream improvement project—on a specific stream." He warned his fellow members: "I'll be calling on you." He will be sure.

TU and other conservation and sportsmen's groups can't do it alone. Unless general public attitudes and support are more heavily mobilized, one of the great battles of our century is doomed to defeat.

Cepeda Recovery Heartens Giants

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

Orlando Cepeda has traded in the blues for the cha-cha and the San Francisco Giants are dancing to the new tune.

Cepeda, limited to occasional pinch-hit duty last season because of a damaged right knee, appeared fully recovered Monday as he cavorted through the Giants' spring training drill at Casa Grande, Ariz.

The big slugger from Puerto Rico worked out at first base without a sign of strain on the knee and cleared the center field fence with a 400-foot drive during batting practice.

Cepeda, in high spirits since his arrival at camp, has been crooning Latin melodies — with a preference for the cha-cha — while he works.

Last spring the Baby Bull wasn't singing. He had re-injured the knee in a training camp foot race with Manager Herman Franks after undergoing surgery for removal of cartilage in December 1964.

He appeared in seven games before being placed on the disabled list in May and did not play again until mid-August, finishing with only 34 at-bats, one home run and five RBIs. In 1964 he led Giant hitters with a .304 mark, crashed 31 homers and drove in 112 runs.

The Giants are counting on a Cepeda comeback to make up the difference between last year's second-place finish and a National League pennant. He had a .309 lifetime batting average and 222 home runs before his knee troubles began.

With the 28-year-old Cepeda apparently sound, the only sour note in the San Francisco camp was the absence of pitchers Juan Marichal and Bob Shaw. Marichal is seeking a $75,000 contract and Shaw a $50,000 pact.

The list of holdouts was reduced by one Monday when southpaw pitcher Juan Pizarro checked into the Chicago White Sox' camp and signed within 30 minutes. Pizarro, who won only six games for the Sox last season, took a pay cut.

Still unsigned are pitchers Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale of the world champion Dodgers; Jim Maloney of Cincinnati and Jim Grant of Minnesota; outfielders Frank Robinson, Baltimore, and Tony Oliva of the Twins, and Dodger shortstop Maury Wills.

Federation Opposes Permits

Deer experts from the State Conservation Department and numerous sportsmen club representatives participated in the sixth annual Catskill Deer Forum at Liberty Saturday.

Hosts were the Sullivan County Sportsmen Club Federation, Sullivan County Board of Supervisors, with the cooperation of the Conservation Department.

The morning session dealt with research work at deer check stations and reasons for special deer hunt areas. Detailed reports on these projects were given by William Severinghaus, Supervising Game Biologist; Stewart Frees and William Heseltun, biologists, who outlined the progress and special hunts at both the Seneca Army Depot and Lourdesville.

Lincoln Lang, assistant project leader, gave the reaction of the Pennsylvania Game Commission of the Lourdesville.

Hall Is Moderator

The noon discussion was on the results and observations of the 1965 deer season. A. Hall, assistant director and moderator, was ably assisted by Ralph Colson, chief bureau of game; Fred Ford, game manager of Region 8, and John Whalen, game manager of Region 8 and John Whalen, game manager of Region 7. Many facts and figures were given dealing with the record season of 1965. A question and answer period followed.

The first afternoon session dealt with the important matter of gun legislation. Members of a panel discussed the topic: "Where Are We With Gun Legislation?"

The panel included: Michael Petruska, past president, New York State Conservation Council, as moderator; E. C. Ludin, assistant county sportsman; and the following other sportsmen: Bruce Denman, Sr., Sullivan; James Mullarkey, Putnam-Delaware; Peter Nunzio, Orange county. Alex Rooney of Gardiner represented Ulster.

The panel was followed by a lively question and answer period.

Report on Gun Bills

It was pointed out that impending gun legislation was of utmost importance to all sportsmen and the general public. A thorough investigation of all bills, both state and national, should be a must for all. Assemblyman John McBride of Sullivan gave a detailed report on several gun bills now being considered. Other speakers included William Goodman, the Conservation Department's head of law enforcement.

The controversial "What About Next Year's Deer Season" concluded the afternoon session. Ralph Colson, chief of the bureau of game, moderated the discussion, assisted by Severinghaus.

The method of selecting and the allocation of party permits was thoroughly discussed and proposed methods of improving them were the basis for a rather heated question and answer period.

Information Lacking

The selection of boundary lines, the number to be issued, deer season dates for the coming season were among the issues clouded in silence. William Meyer, president of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster county, gave the reaction of Ulster county sportsmen toward party permit hunting. He noted that the county sportsmen clubs, as a whole, are against the issuance of such permits, or any doe season.

Banquet speakers at the evening session were: George W. Davis, assistant general director of the northeast division, National Bureau of Recreation and Richard Gross, chief federal coordinator, Bureau of Recreation.

Awards were presented to William Severinghaus, supervising wildlife biologist; and Ed Moore, New York Journal-American outdoor editor. Cal Creary of Liberty was general chairman of the forum.

Chicago Loyola Jolted By Western Kentucky

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer

The State of Kentucky has a college basketball powerhouse at Lexington — ask anybody. It also has quite a team at Bowling Green — ask George Ireland.

Ireland took his fourth-ranked Chicago Loyola Ramblers into the first round of the NCAA Midwest Regional at Kent, Ohio, Monday night, and unranked Western Kentucky took them right out again.

"This wasn't our best game," Coach Johnny Oldham said after his Hilltoppers beat the Ramblers 105-86.

If it wasn't their best game, it probably would be hard to convince Ireland, who saw his Ramblers, trailing 49-43 at intermission, fall behind 69-50 in the first six minutes of the second half when the Hilltoppers hit on nine of 10 field-goal attempts.

Ireland praised Western Kentucky, saying, "This is one of the good teams. . . they could go a long way."

Another member of the Top

Ten, No. 8 Providence, also lost. The Friars were clobbered 65-48 in a first round NCAA Eastern Regional game at Blacksburg, Va., after trailing only 43-42 with 10:48 remaining.

In the second game at Blacksburg, Southern Conference champion Davidson got 39 points from Rodney Knowles and advanced by thrashing Rhode Island, the Yankee Conference titlist, 95-65.

Honor For Dayton

Dayton earned the right to meet first-ranked Kentucky by defeating Miami of Ohio 58-51 behind big Henry Finkel's 25 points in the other game at Kent. The 6-foot-11 Finkel got 17 of his points in the first half when the independent Flyers opened up a 32-27 margin over Miami, the Mid-American Conference champion.

Kentucky tuned up for its game with Dayton by closing out its regular season with a 103-74 trouncing of Tulane in Lexington.

The Wildcats could meet Western Kentucky if they beat Dayton and the Hilltoppers get past Big Ten champion Michigan, which closed out its regular season Monday night by losing to Michigan State 87-77, despite 35 points by Player of the Year Cazzie Russell.

In the only other NCAA tournament games — the first-round regional at Wichita, Kan., — third-ranked Texas Western beat Oklahoma City 89-74, and Houston ousted Colorado State University 82-72.

Sixth-ranked Kansas stormed into the national playoffs by clinching its 19th Big Eight conference title and first clear-cut championship since 1957, with an 85-65 home court thumping of Colorado.

The only other member of the Top Ten to see action was Nebraska. The ninth-ranked Cornhuskers, second in the Big Eight, finished their season with an 85-64 victory over Oklahoma State at Lincoln, Neb.

Casey in Hall

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Casey Stengel has been voted into Baseball's Hall of Fame by a unanimous vote of the 11-man committee in a special election. Stengel, 75, became eligible without the normal five-year waiting period when the rules were changed Jan. 30.

The man who led the New York Yankees to five straight world championships and 10 pennants in 12 years before moving to the New York Mets becomes the 104th member of the Hall.

Dog Sled Laurels

To Roland Lombard

KENAI, Alaska (AP) — Dr. Roland Lombard of Wayland, Mass., holds the Alaska State Sled Dog Championship in the wake of his victory over icy winds, drifting snows and 18 other competitors.

The veteran musher drove his team over the 15.8-mile-long course between Kenai and Soldotna in the two-hour time of 1:55.59 Sunday to take the title. A week earlier, Lombard finished fourth in the Anchorage Fur Rendezvous World Championships.

The only woman in Sunday's race, Ann Wing of Millbrook, N. Y., finished 12th with a second-day run of 1:06.44 and an overall time of 2:22.56. She was 16th in Saturday's first heat.

New Zealand Draws In British Cricket

DUNEDIN, New Zealand (AP) — New Zealand had to hang on grimly to draw with England today, last day of the second test cricket match against the British.

Sixty-two runs behind on the first innings when England declared at 254 for 8, New Zealand lost 7 for 100 in their second innings. Then a long, patient innings by Eric Petrie took them through to 9 for 147 at stumps.

To which Rupp replied, "This is great. Somebody stole our TV set at home — and that's the closest Mrs. Rupp and I have come to divorce."

Then, in honor of Rupp's 22nd Southeastern Conference championship — the record was 15-1 — Lexington businessmen presented The Baron with a 25-inch, color television set.

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Seven-year-old Timely Dares held off favorite Idie Raider to post a one-half length victory in the $4,000 Newark Pace at Yonkers Raceway Monday night.

George Phalen drove the son of Meadow Gene to victory in 2:06 2-5. Lind's Girl was third. Timely Dares returned $10.40, $4.00 and $3.00.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Another "big horse" was sidelined with an injury today as Kelso joined Graustark, Roman Brother and others who have missed rich races in Florida.

Kelso, owned by Mrs. Richard C. duPont, was slated to run in the $50,000 Donn Handicap at Gulfstream Park Saturday, but trainer Carl Hanford reported the rich old gelding rapped himself on the ankle and will miss the race.

Kelso, winner of a record $1,977,986 and shooting for the $2-million mark, may still go in the $100,000-added Gulfstream Park Handicap on March 26, Hanford said.

Roman Brother wrenched an ankle and missed the Widener Handicap, while Graustark, undefeated 3-year-old, injured a hoof and did not run in the Everglades or Flamingo as planned.

Television Set Saves Mr. Rupp

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Adolph Rupp, the coach of No. 1-ranked Kentucky, enjoyed his Wildcats' 24th basketball victory of the season, 103-74 over Tulane Monday night in the season-enders for both teams.

Brewer 16 Under In Pensacola Win

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Ten per cent of the golfers on the pro tour don't run scared of the Big Three—Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player — says the latest tournament winner.

The other 90 per cent quakes a little and probably tense up when any of the awesome threesome is around, adds Gay Brewer Jr., who pocketed the $10,000 first-prize Monday in the $65,000 Pensacola Open.

"I don't feel any different going into the Doral Open at Miami than I did here," the strapping 6-footer from Dallas said today. "When a guy gets on top of his game, he feels nobody — not Palmer, not Nicklaus, not anybody — can beat him."

"The real top guys on the tour, the top 10 per cent, feel this way."

In the tournament here, the field lacked not only the Big Three but also such prominent players as Tony Lema, Ken Venturi, Bill Casper and Gene Littler.

Then the event lost another big name when Doug Sanders, leading by four strokes after 36 holes, was disqualified for not signing his scorecard. This opened the door for Brewer, who jumped in to win by three strokes with a score of 65-69-67-71—272, 16 under par.

Bruce Devlin of Australia made a late charge with a final-round 67 but had to be content with the $6,000 second money at 273. Jacky Cupit of Dallas, with a final 68, was third at 276 and Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., fourth at 277.

Now the barnstormers move to Miami where they will face up to Palmer and Nicklaus and perhaps Player.

CLOSE QUARTERS — Loyola's Billy Smith (41) isn't big for a college center (6-5) but he's powerful and he knows how to move around the basket.

John Randolph and Henry Clay once had an argument in the Senate. It was such an angry quarrel that they did not speak to each other afterward for quite a while. One day they met on Pennsylvania Avenue where the sidewalk was very narrow.

As Randolph came up, he looked Henry Clay in the eye, and not moving an inch from the sidewalk, hissed.

John Randolph—I never turn out for soundrels!

Henry Clay (as he stepped politely off the walk and let Randolph pass.)—I always do.

We're living in a fast age. So fast the country dog that used to chase the freight train off the farm is bewildered by the airplane flying overhead.

Our parakeet and tom cat are good friends; the cat lies on a chair and allows the parakeet to walk all over him and even to peck at his ears.

Mice Steal Dentures?

BOLTON, England (AP) — A 61-year-old man asked the Bolton Health Service Council today to replace his false teeth. He said mice ran off with his bottom dentures.

The man—his name was not announced—will get another set of bottoms free, the council decided, because he is poor.
"It must have fallen on the floor," the man told the council, "and as I have a lot of mice, they must be responsible for the disappearance."

"We took the story about the mice with a pinch of salt," Dr. Bernard Thornley, chairman of the Health Service Council. "But he deserves a bouquet for such a novel reason."
Murray Maskell, deputy clerk of the council, said the allowance was because of the man's financial position — not because of his explanation.

Attacks Begin Before Lindsay Plan Submitted

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Mayor John V. Lindsay's requests to the Legislature for more ways to raise money were under attack here Monday before they were even submitted to the legislators.

While Lindsay's legislative aide, Richard Rosen, was delivering copies of the Lindsay bills to the legislative leaders, more than 1,000 small homeowners staged a "march on Albany" to pressure their assemblymen and senators to reject a proposed income tax and increase in the real estate tax.

Immoral: Podell

Lindsay's plan for a 50 per cent increase in water rates on one- and two-family homes was called "immoral" by Assemblyman Bertram L. Podell, D-Brooklyn. In a letter to the Republican mayor, Podell urged Lindsay to withdraw the measure from his tax package.

Podell is chairman of a subcommittee of the Temporary State Commission on Water Resources Planning. The commission's chairman said he would hold a "fact-finding conference" in New York City Thursday on what measures have been taken by the city and its suburbs to alleviate drought - caused shortages in downstate water supply systems.

Nassau County Executive Eugene Nickerson, who is seeking nomination, and New York City's acting water supply commissioner, Herman Foster, are among the scheduled witnesses. Lindsay's tax package was presented to Speaker Anthony J. Travia, chairman of the Assembly Rules Committee, but will not be on the desk of the lawmakers until next week.
"I guarantee you we will do nothing until we get a home-rule message and then we will only begin to consider the package," Travia told a group of the homeowners.

Must Come From Council

The "home - rule" message must come from the Democratic - controlled City Council, Travia said, before he will introduce the Lindsay plan to the Assembly, which is also controlled by Democrats.

Lindsay's income tax plan would also affect commuters from Long Island, Rockland and Westchester counties who work in New York. Legislators from those suburban counties have attacked the plan.
Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, in a radio interview, noted that commuters do not derive any benefit from the New York City public school system. He said the Legislature would give consideration to the fact that commuters shoulder the cost of education in their own communities.

Recover Car

Local police today reported a car recovered shortly more than an hour after they were notified it had been stolen. A report at 7:13 a. m., noted the theft of the car of William J. Guidy, 29 Rogers Street, from near that address. At 8:20 a. m., it was reported located by Officer George Deyo on Murray Street. At report at 9:35 p. m. Monday noted the theft of a sweater from the car of Teri Katrady of 285 Flatbush Avenue, while it was parked in the Mid-City Lanes lot, Cornell Street.

Leslie Piastro Wins Citizenship Award From DAR

RECEIVES MEDAL—Mrs. Robert Freer (r) presents the American History Medal to Clifford Ferrono, first place winner in the American History Month Essay Contest sponsored by the Saugerties Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution. Looking on is Mrs. Carroll Nieffer, regent of the local organization. Young Ferrono is a fifth grader; entitled his winning essay, George Washington's Advice.

Clifford Ferrono Pens 1st Place Saugerties Essay

Clifford Ferrono, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Ferrono, has been chosen first place winner of the American History Month Essay Contest sponsored by Saugerties Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The young winner and his parents were honored guests at the recent monthly meeting of the DAR at the home of Mrs. Willett Overbaugh, Lighthouse Drive. In formal presentation ceremonies, Mrs. Robert Freer and Mrs. Carroll Nieffer, regent, awarded an American History Medal to the winning fifth grader.

The essay contest climaxed the month-long observance of American History Month during February and was open to students of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades in the Saugerties School System.
Young Ferrono is a student in Mrs. Miller's fifth grade. Second and third place winners were Maureen Luley and Carol Wasserbach, both students in Mr. Luther's fifth grade.
Ferrono's winning essay, George Washington's Advice, follows:

On January 8, 1790 George Washington delivered his first address to Congress. In this address he gave advice that still applies today. Washington was quoted as saying, "To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual means of preserving peace."
We can see that Washington offered good advice to the new nation for in less than 30 years the young nation again faced a crisis with England and had to defend itself in the war of 1812.

It was in this war, as in every other war, that we as a nation, had to demonstrate to the world that we were prepared to defend our rights as a free nation.

Although Washington loved peace more than anything else, he knew that being prepared for war was the best hope for peace in the coming years.
Even though he was criticized for stating that he would maintain a standing army and a well-manned navy, he knew that some nations would not always share our peaceful intentions. It was against these nations that our strong defenses would be needed to protect our right to survive among the other nations of the world. Washington knew that being well armed would discourage other nations from unlawful aggression.

The history of the world has shown how wise the father of our country really was. For we, from Washington's time to the present, have had to show the world many times that we intend to preserve our liberties even at the cost of war. Many years have passed but some men still try to test our will to remain free. Today in South Viet Nam, Americans are dying to preserve peace.

While no one can tell the future, we can learn many lessons from history. It has shown us that the price of freedom is strength.

Rebekahs Slate Rummage Sale

A pilgrimage in early June to the Ithaca Home was discussed at last week's meeting of Queen of the Catskill Mountain Rebekah Lodge at IOOF Hall, West Saugerties. Members were urged to bring packages for the home, to be sold in booths there, with proceeds of sales to be used for the home. Mary Patryk, deputy marshal, will forward packages to the proper authorities.

June Lewis, past Noble Grand, was elected as delegate from the lodge to attend the Rebekah Assembly Session May 17-19 at the Statler Hilton Hotel, Buffalo. Ethel A. Jehle was named as proxy.

Members also discussed the rummage sale to be held July 7, 8 and 9 at a place to be announced in the village, and the barter sale which is planned for the near future.

All past Noble Grands will be entertained March 17 at the hall, and Noble Grand Association will hold a district meeting April 9 at 2 p. m. at the West Saugerties Hall.

Rebekahs of West Saugerties, who celebrated a 40th anniversary Jan. 27, voted donations to the Eye Bank, Visual Eye Research Educational Fund and the Ithaca Home.

Announcement was made that June Lewis, past Noble Grand, is substituting for Margaret Siegel, new advisor to Tonda Theta Rho Girls Club 26, who is ill at the present time. Members of this group are selling candy, a project of Theta Rho Girls Club Assembly president. Proceeds of the sale will be used to fight leukemia and defray expenses for the rally.

Finalize Scout Rally Saturday

The importance of encouraging Girl Scouts to participate in camping was discussed at last week's meeting of Girl Scouts of Saugerties Neighborhood at Saugerties Savings Bank. Mrs. John Luley, troop organizer, presided, distributed camp folders and urged those attending to explain details of camping activity to local scouts.

Members also discussed tentative plans for a Neighborhood trip to Smith's Cove at Monroe and finalized plans for the Girl Scout rally March 12 at Donon auditorium. Window displays at the auditorium may be viewed between 1:30 p. m. and 2 p. m. prior to the start of the rally program at 2 p. m. with a flag ceremony. Parents and friends have been invited to attend the two-hour program honoring the birthday of Girl Scouts.

Seating arrangements for the rally are as follows: left side of auditorium facing stage — Brownie Troops 154, 109, 53, 185, 45, 37 and 70, followed by Junior Troops 170, 133 and 73. Junior Troop 23 will take seats in the first row of the right side of the auditorium, followed by Junior Troops 169, 5 and 155. Cadette Troops 104 and 66 will be seated behind the Juniors. Parents and

Plan Cinema City Of $50 Million At Gotham Site

NEW YORK (AP) — An elaborate $50-million theater complex — called Cinema City — is planned for midtown Manhattan on the site now occupied by Madison Square Garden, the famed sports arena.

Details of the proposed development were made public Monday by Irving Felt, chairman and president of the Madison Square Garden Corp., which will own and operate the center. The project will feature twin 39-story office towers, four motion picture theaters, two legitimate theaters and film and recording studios.

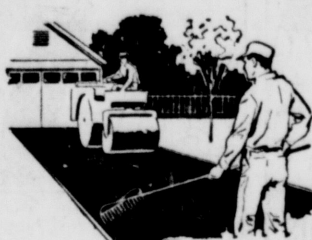

Felt said construction would begin after demolition of the 41-year-old Madison Square Garden in late 1967. A new sports and convention hall is under construction atop Pennsylvania Station, 16 blocks south of the present site.

Medicare Meeting Is Set for Britts

George J. Habernig, district manager of the Kingston Social Security office, announced today that through the cooperation of Britts Store a meeting on "Medicare", Health Insurance for people 65 or older, will be held in the Britt's Community Room, Kingston Shopping Plaza Tuesday, March 15, at 7:30 p. m.

A representative of the Kingston Social Security office will be available to answer questions about the new Health Insurance Program. "Whether you are still working or if you have never worked, you must enroll if you want medical insurance coverage on July 1, 1966," Habernig said.
The deadline for those who became 65 on or before Jan. 1, 1966 is March 31, 1966. Young and old are invited.

Lake Champlain covers an area of about 600 square miles.
